Two Teens To Be Charged In Cemetery Vandalism

By Frank Messina

Two teenagers will be charged in connection with the desecration of 76 tombstones pushed to the ground at West Parish Cemetery last weekend, say police.

The damage was done sometime between Saturday evening and Sunday morning at 8:20 a.m., when a visitor to the cemetery discovered the tombstones, said Andover Detective Kevin Burke.

Several of the stones were chipped and cracked, although none were completely broken through, said Burke.

After interviewing several people in the community, Burke was given the names of two likely suspects. After conversations with both, the detective obtained confessions from the pair, described as teenage males, one a juvenile, the other 17 years old, said Detective David Grant.

Although neither has been arrested, the teenagers will be charged with malicious damage, said Grant, who indicated that other youths may have been involved in the crime.

In an earlier interview, Burke had stressed that police were taking the incident seriously.

"This is not simple vandalism," said Burke, "this is desecration."

No other damage to the cemetery

Committee Considers 3-Year Contract For Seifert

By Julie M. Barry

The School Committee is contemplating a three-year contract for the superintendent of schools, rather than approving his salary on an annual basis as has been done in the past, according to School Committee Chairman Donald Robb.

Discussion on the matter has been in the School Committee's executive sessions, and Robb said a final decision on the duration of Seifert's contract will be made no later than January, 1989.

Superintendent Dr. Kenneth Seifert is currently negotiating with the School Committee and said he didn't want to comment for fear he might "jeopardize his position" with the committee. But he said he would discuss the issue when negotiations have been completed.

Rumors that Seifert will be leaving the Andover school system in a few years have also surfaced. Although he didn't confirm or deny that sentiment, Seifert said "I'm not

Red Cross To Hold Blood Drive

Representatives of the Merrimack Valley chapter of the American Red Cross say this is a good time to give blood.

The Red Cross will hold a blood drive Thursday, Dec. 22, from 2 to 8 p.m. at Christ Church.

You must weigh 110 pounds and be in good health.

Doherty Continues Tradition

Doherty Middle School and the Doherty Parents' Advisory Council will again sponsor an evening of holiday caroling in the Park in front of town offices as a free event for Andover families Monday, starting at 7 p.m.

Doherty students have raised money to provide "treats" for the small children who attend, as well as free hot cocoa and doughnuts for everyone. And Santa Claus will be there too.

Make-up Clinic Set

The Andover Board of Health has scheduled an additional influenza and pneumonia immunization clinic for those persons not able to get shots at the original clinic held recently.

The vaccinations are indicated for persons in the senior age group and/or persons with certain chronic conditions or diseases.

Shots will be administered

Tuesday, Dec. 20, from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Andover Senior Center, Whittier Court. Flu shots are free and no pre-registration is required. Medicare eligible recipients must provide their Medicare HIC number. Pre-registration is required for the pneumonia vaccine and there is a $5 charge. To pre-register for the pneumonia shot, call the town public health nurse at 470-3800, Ext. 255.

School Board Meets

The School Committee will meet Tuesday, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the School Committee Conference Room.

A review of the outstanding work orders and the process by which the maintenance department handles such orders is on the agenda.

The committee will also discuss a proposal for an environmental study, focusing on such things as air quality and circulation, at the school buildings.

Site Plan Approved

The planning board approved a site plan Tuesday night requested by John Dumont to maintain a contractor's yard located off Lowell Junction Road near the MBTA railroad line.

Dumont currently runs a rubbish business from an industrial site in Ballardvale. The unanimous vote by the board paves the way for his operations to move to the Lowell Junction site.

The approval was conditional upon the exclusion of any outside storage of rubbish trucks, contractor's equipment or construction equipment.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Usually, the selection of hospital where you plan to deliver your baby is limited by your obstetrician's practice. Some doctors have staff privileges at more than one hospital. Discuss with your doctor his or her - and your - preference. If you're working and haven't time to visit the hospital, the doctor's staff may be able to handle necessary details before you can be admitted. You and your husband should visit the hospital about the fifth month of pregnancy, when an approximate date for your admission can be established. At this time, you'll be able to discuss the hospital's policies and ask any questions that you might have pertaining to your delivery. You'll probably be surprised to find the hospital more flexible than you anticipated.

Baby furniture by leading manufacturers is available at THEY TOTLAND. Open 9-5:30. Mon. & Th. 9-9. We carry everything from pacifiers to strollers. Toys for all ages... "heaven to seven". The staff will gladly answer your questions. Free lay-a-way. Visa & M/C. Stop in soon at THEY TOTLAND, 1111 Elm St., Manchester, N.H. 1-603-623-6171.

We've made our list and checked it twice.

We've taken the sometimes painful and always time consuming process of selecting the right gift and made things a little simpler for your Holiday shopping. Our list includes the very best available. Give our wine manager, John Grange, a call. We'll have your order ready, or if needed we can deliver any case orders.

Winter View

A winter view of an Andover farm is captured by Charles Henry Newman, famed Andover photographer from 1872-1944, whose work is the focal point of Andover Historical Society's 1989 historic photograph calendar available at the society headquarters, 97 Main St., and in many local stores.

Internship Involves Tour

Charlotte Silverman of Andover, a travel-tourism major at Johnson & Wales University in Providence, R.I., recently toured Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Liechtenstein as part of a "familiarization tour," planned in conjunction with her required internship at the school's travel center.

Silverman is the daughter of Phyllis Silverman-Winn of 23 Abbot St.

The tour is planned and carried out by the travel-tourism students as part of their studies. They are responsible for all tour arrangements, including accommodations, transportation, meals, baggage and sightseeing. Students also share tour guide responsibilities for the group each day.

During the 10-day trip, the group toured Heidelberg, Salzburg and Zurich. The students visited some of these cities' historic sites, including Heidelberg Castle, Mirabell Gardens, Bahnhofstrasse and Oberammergau.

Cattle branding was practiced 4,000 years ago. Old tomb paintings show Egyptians branding their cattle.

Accomando Honored By U. Mass.

Edward A. Accomando of Andover was selected as one of the "125 alumni to watch" by the University of Massachusetts at an awards banquet on campus in November.

Capping a year-long observance of the university's 125th anniversary, Chancellor Joseph Duffey recognized this select group of graduates from the classes of 1967-87 for their professional accomplishments and civic contributions.

"We can think of no better way to end our anniversary year than by recognizing the rising stars of our alumni, particularly considering they have yet to reach their full potential," said Deirdre Ling, vice chancellor for university relations and development. "The university marks its progress by the success of alumni, and we are pleased there were so many distinguished alumni to choose from."

Accomando and his fellow alumni were presented with an award designed by artist Josh Simpson, who was specially commissioned to commemorate the occasion.

The grads were chosen from more than 400 nominated for recognition, according to Joan Stola, director of cooperative education, who chaired the selection committee.

Accomando attended a variety of special events during his stay on campus, including visits to his host academic departments and meetings with faculty and students.

Accomando received his bachelor of arts degree in economics in 1971, his B.B.A. in marketing in '75 and his M.B.A. in finance in '77.

He is a senior vice president with First Albany Corp., an investment and banking firm in Boston.

Apart from his family and professional life, he says his special relationship with his alma mater has provided him the most satisfaction. In his last year as president of the Alumni Association, Accomando has worked on behalf of UMass for the past 11 years.

Most recently he was responsible for the creation of two new positions for Amherst campus alumni on the board of trustees and is one of the school's most vocal supporters.

His commitment to UMass "is my way of saying thanks for providing me an excellent education at a price I could afford," he said.

When it was first written, "The Star Spangled Banner" bore the title "The Defense of Fort Henry."

Town Reimbursed By State

Andover is one of 21 cities and towns entitled to $160,298 in reimbursements from the state for costs incurred or anticipated for complying with state mandated regulations for testing and removing underground fuel storage tanks.

Andover's share is $6,500, said State Auditor A. Joseph DeNucci.

DeNucci found that the 21 cities and towns that petitioned for a ruling are entitled to reimbursements because the regulations violated the anti-mandate provisions of Proposition 2½, which require the state to fully fund all new state laws, rules and regulations imposing a financial obligation on cities and towns. If the state does not provide the necessary funding, municipalities have the right to seek a court-ordered exemption from this requirement.

A statewide financial effect survey by DeNucci's division of local mandates projects a total of $2.8 million in state funding will be required the first year to compensate all cities and towns affected by the 1986 regulations issued by the Board of Fire Prevention Regulations.

These regulations require periodic testing of certain municipally-owned underground fuel tanks to detect possible leaks. Communities are also required to remove all tanks that have been either abandoned or out of service more than six months.

The survey estimates there are approximately 3,000 municipal storage tanks subject to these regulations. The average cost of periodic testing is approximately $625 per tank and some $2,900 for removal.

"Because of the competing interests for limited dollars, the anti-mandate provision of Proposition 2½ will become even more important in protecting cities and towns from unfunded state initiatives," DeNucci said.

Broadsides, Books Are Exhibited

Eighteen New England graphic designers and calligraphers are exhibiting some 40 examples of their work at Andover Antiquarian Books and Gallery, 68 Park St. The show, which is open to the public free of charge, will continue through Dec. 31.

All of the artists belong to the Lettering Arts Guild of Boston, which maintains rigorous and competitive membership standards, according to David Rodger, proprietor of Andover Antiquarian Books and Gallery. "This show highlights the range of work now being done in the lettering arts field. Viewers will see traditional as well as experimental letter forms in the alphabets and literary quotations presented in these broadsides and books."

The bookshop and gallery is open Monday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and this Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

Ship Log On Loan Down Under

The Essex Institute has loaned the log of the ship Britannia (1792-95) from its archival collections to the State Library of New South Wales for Australia's bicentenary of 1988 currently taking place in Sydney.

The library's Bicentennial exhibition as titled "The Coming of the Strangers: Life in Australia, 1788-1822." The Britannia's log was mounted in the galleries of the State Library as part of the major 1988 exhibition dealing with the early years of white settlement in Australia. The exhibition has been endorsed as an official Bicentennial activity.

The ship's log was displayed from Oct. 1 through Nov. 30. The John Carter Brown Library at Brown University in Providence, R.I., lent a rare manuscript of a journal of a 1798 voyage from Providence, R.I., to Canton, China, by way of Australia and back. The Rhode Island Historical Society also donated a rare manuscript.

The Essex Institute is a regional museum which collects, preserves and interprets the history and culture of Essex County from the 17th century to the present day.

For designing and building battery-powered devices that are creative, practical and energy-efficient, the first-place winner receives a $10,000 scholarship and five second-place winners receive $3,000 scholarships. Ten third-place winners each receive $500 scholarships and 25 entrants are each given $100 cash awards.

Everyone who enters receives a Duracell designer athletic bag. The teachers of the top winners receive computers or other special gifts.

First- and second-place winners, accompanied by their parents and teachers, will attend the Duracell awards luncheon in Seattle in April, held in conjunction with the 37th national convention of the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA). Sponsored by Duracell U.S.A., the seventh annual competition is administered by the NSTA.

Students make a device which runs on any one or a combination of Duracell batteries—AAA, AA, D, K, 9-volt or lantern size—and submit a brief description and photo of it by Feb. 1, 1989. Previous winners have made such items as a talking ruler, weather predictor, musical mailbox, storm warning alarm, automatic clamp and swimming pool safety system.

Student Voice PAC Improves High School

By Cathy Allard

What is PAC? PAC is an acronym for the Parents' Advisory Council.

"It exists as a parent group to work with the school to bring about a better academic standard, school spirit and an overall culture in the student body," explained Wilbur Hixon, principal of Andover High School.

PAC Co-President Helen Anderson said one of the group's main goals is "to show our appreciation to the staff at the high school. We have coffee and donuts for them before school once a month for the teachers."

PAC donated two refrigerators, said member Lynn Camarota, and an artificial tree that was used at the recent semi-formal "Holly Ball" dance held at the high school.

PAC is also a strong supporter of finding ways to make school life interesting for students. "We are working with the school improvement board to find funding to sponsor weekend activities, like renting a hall for dances, having DJs from local radio stations and renting large televisions and tapes for a movie night," said Anderson.

Support for PAC is very important, members said. "The younger parents, the ninth-grade parents, are very supportive of PAC," commented Joyce Ringleb, a member. "We received many new members this year at the open house because of them."

The money for PAC comes from dues each member pays at the beginning of the new school year. Andover High School's PAC finds many of its new members at the school's open house every September. The money raised from these dues is used to fund the teacher coffees, extra items like the Holly Ball Christmas tree and the refrigerators.

PAC members are very involved with the School Committee and form committees of their own to help make improvements in the school. "Many of the PAC members sit on various committees working for the passing of different proposals," said Anderson. "Some of the parents are on committees that look at the structure of the building, and others are on committees that push to have funding for various projects."

PAC is always interested in hearing new ideas on how to improve school life at Andover High. "If any parent would like to see anything discussed, call the school and ask that it be put on the agenda. We are anxious to help the school in any way and are always open to suggestions. The meetings are the first Monday of every month at the same time and place."

PAC's next meeting is Jan. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the library annex at the high school. Parents and students are welcome to come.

Allard is an Andover High senior.

Doherty Plans Holiday Fun

The annual canned food drive, a mitten tree, the traditional holiday concert and a caroling party highlight this month's calendar at Doherty Middle School.

Students have begun collecting canned goods for the schoolwide food drive for the needy. Donations will be distributed to local charities.

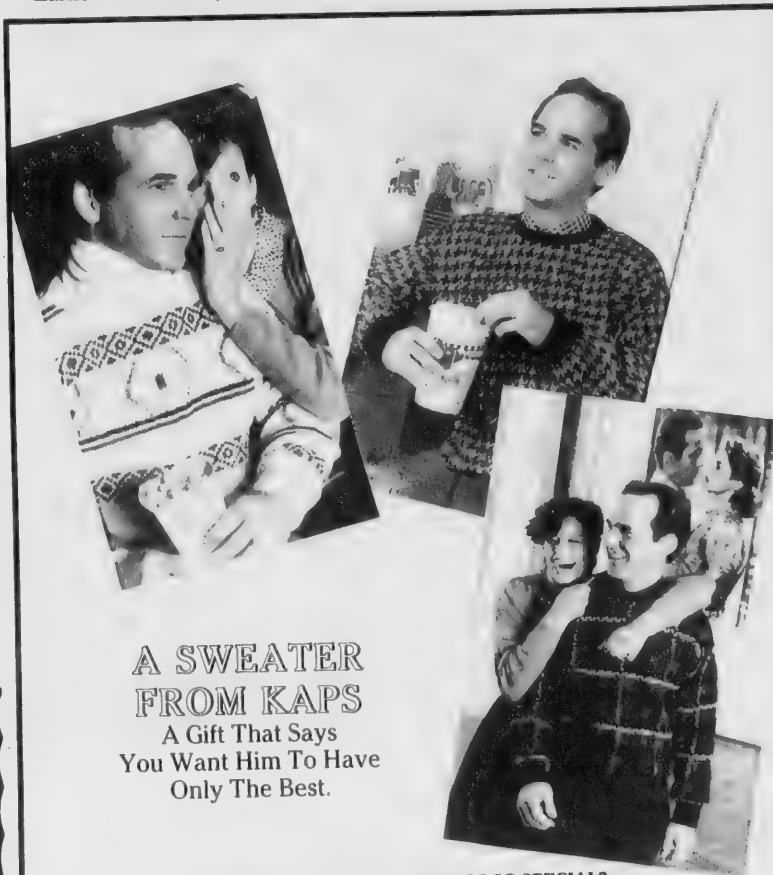

Students have also set up a mitten tree. Organized by Doherty's Kids for Fun, the program offers a candy cane in exchange for each pair of mittens hung on the tree. The gloves and mittens will be distributed to those in need.

Earlier in the month, students and faculty gathered for Doherty's student recognition assemblies. Outstanding students were honored for achievements in various categories.

The school clubs and organizations have been hard at work. Members of the newspaper staff have been busy with their first edition while outing club members met for a four-hour Saturday hike recently. Students in the leadership group attended a day-long conference at Frost School in Lawrence and the math team and chess club have been meeting regularly.

St. A's Pupils Help Homeless

St. Augustine's School students will be bringing in gifts for the homeless cared for by Daybreak Shelter in Lawrence. The children worked with the shelter last year as part of Channel 5's Project Shelter program.

Most people who visit the shelter are adults.

Staffers there say their visitors need things like flannel and woolen shirts, socks, mittens, gloves, hats, scarfs, long underwear, disposable razors, sweaters (new or in good condition), sweatshirts, towels and blankets.

Gifts should be wrapped and labeled "male," "female" or "male or female."

The gifts will be part of the school's Christmas liturgy on Dec. 21 at which a representative of the shelter may be present. Following the service, the gifts will be brought to the shelter.

Pike Visits Seniors

More than 50 Pike School students stopped by the Andover Senior Center Dec. 2 to continue what has become a tradition.

Under the direction of Carolyn Taylor, members of the Middle School Chorus, a volunteer group comprised of third-, fourth- and fifth-graders, presented a variety of songs. Some of the works were contemporary, Taylor said, and the young singers even performed a song in German.

The audience joined in during the students' closing number, "Shine On, Harvest Moon."

Taylor said a big part of the concerts at the senior center is the chance for an intergenerational get-together.

In 1849, Elizabeth Blackwell was the first American woman to become a doctor.

Fair Play

Joseph, Elizabeth and Mary Flood, children of James and Cheryl Flood, pay a visit to Santa at a Christmas fair at St. Augustine's School. Twenty-five craftspeople displayed their work at the Dec. 3 fair.

IT'S BETTER TO BE A BIG FISH IN A SMALL POND.

When the 'pond' is a bank, we think you'd be right if you checked the "Right" box above. Especially when the 'pond' is Andover Bank. You're important to us. You're a human being, not a faceless account number. When big banking conglomerates move in and gobble up local banks, the local bank customers become teenie weenie fish in a giant conglomerate pond.

So we're going to make it easy for you to become a big fish. Simply fill in the Transfer Authorization below, and your account will be easily transferred to Andover Bank. In most cases, you won't have to visit the bank or carry your funds from one bank to another. Nothing could be easier.

For additional information right away, you may stop by any of our eight convenient offices in the Merrimack Valley, or call our New Account Hotline: 1-800-222-2238 or 1-508-475-6103, Monday through Friday 8 am to 8 pm or Saturday 8 am to 12 noon and ask for Sally at extension 100.

South Students Swap Books

South Elementary School held a holiday bookswap Dec. 7. Children were encouraged to bring books from home to swap for new reading material over the winter.

The middle schools also donated 1,500 older children's books. Books covered every table in the cafeteria and were replenished by parent volunteers and staff. The idea was Principal Jade Reitman's. Reitman and Sandy Parziale coordinated the event. Volunteers were Liz Busby, Barbara Nicholson, Ann Sorgi and Carol Ferranti.

PA Students Earn PSAT Letters Of Commendation

Eleven Andover seniors at Phillips Academy have received letters of commendation from the National Merit Scholarship Corp. for their high performance on the qualifying exam, the PSAT, taken during their junior year.

These local students scored among the top 5 percent of the more than 1 million students who took the exam and just below the National Merit semifinalists, who are being considered for scholarships.

The students who received letters of commendation are Jonathan Clough, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Clough of Kathleen Drive; Anastasia Enos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan S. Enos of High Plan Road;

Michael Faraci, son of Dr. and Mrs. Richard M. Faraci of Abbot Street; Sally Grabowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Grabowski of Sunset Rock Road; Eric Hawn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Hawn of Old School House Road; Pauline Koh, daughter of Yung B. Koh of Appletree Lane; Eugene Park, son of Dr. and Mrs. Han Y. Park of Algonquin Avenue; Christian Parker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Parker of Carlisle Street; Lee Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean K. Webster of Sunset Rock Road; Carrie Weiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Weiner of Pioneer Circle; and Michael Yoon, son of Mr. Francis T. and Dr. Katherine C. Yoon of Balmoral Street.

Students Visit West Africa

Two Andover students at Phillips Academy visited West Africa for a community service project.

On Dec. 14, Zachary Drench, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Drench of the academy, and Erin McCloskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barry McCloskey of Morton Street, traveled to Dakar, Senegal, with a group of nine schoolmates, seven students from Phillips Academy, Exeter, N.H., and one from Greenwich Academy in Greenwich, Conn.

It's the third time PA students have participated in the 10-day trip, which is partially financed by school-sponsored fund-raisers, to help restore the Leopold Angrand Elementary School. The school was the first elementary school built on Goree Island, a major exit port for the slave trade during the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries.

The building, constructed by slaves, was one of the first buildings on the island and has been used as a courthouse, a jail and a slave house over the last few centuries.

Students interested in the trip submitted essays to project director Cathy Royal. Royal, an English and history instructor at Phillips, selected students based on their essay.

"We are anxious not only to provide these volunteers with a positive experience in helping others, but also with a sense of the African heritage which we all share," Royal said.

"Too often our African history is obscured in this country in favor of a white, European influence. But we all, regardless of our color, must learn more of our evolutionary roots.

"The preservation of this school is significant to the Western world. To date, over 100 of our students and adult volunteers have worked along with people of Africa, and all say that their lives are not the same because of this most enlightening experience," Royal continued.

According to Royal, the trip is part of an ongoing effort at PA to balance the curriculum between traditional Western values and those which stem from other parts of the world.

Phillips, Royal said, was the first high school to bring high school students and instructors from China and the Soviet Union.

Mime Group Brings Wright Stuff To Town

The Wright Brothers came to town this week and delighted audiences from elementary school kids to high school students.

Winners of the 1987 International Mime Festival, the five-man group performed their irreverent spoofs, reminiscent of the Three Stooges, for Andover High, the middle schools and West Elementary School.

The Wright Brothers run a slow-motion marathon to the theme from Chariots of Fire, above. At left, the group perform another comic spoof that had their school-aged audiences in stitches this week.

Holiday Spirit Prevails At Library

Memorial Hall Library is now decked out for the season, thanks to two of Andover's garden clubs. Last week, the Spade and Trowel Garden Club decorated the upstairs; this Saturday, members of the Andover Junior Garden Club—the children's arm of the Andover Garden Club—crafted and hung decorations in the children's room.

The group, led by Barbara Crouch, will discuss the novel Beloved by Toni Morrison. New members are always welcome. The books to be discussed are determined by the group and published in advance. Discussion leadership rotates among members.

Future discussions will feature Toward

Business Bureau Gets Award

The Better Business Bureau, Inc. received a national award from the Council of Better Business Bureaus for "overall combined membership development and retention."

The BBB, Inc., covering eastern Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont, has doubled its membership in four years. Nationally, the BBB, Inc. has the largest number of members and the second highest membership income.

"Of course, I am very pleased with the award. It is the fruition of a four-year development plan," said Vice President of Membership Gene Dubrow. "Nevertheless, the real award winners are the BBB members. Without their active support of the bureau there would be no award."

The council also bestowed an award to eastern Massachusetts membership representative Robert Capozzi for registering the greatest number of new memberships, 437, in 1988.

BBB President Leonard L. Sanders accepted the awards at the 1988 Assembly of Better Business Bureaus in Montreal, Canada, on behalf of Dubrow and Capozzi.

"Although we are extremely proud of our achievements," said Aram Chooljian, manager, "we could not have experienced a 20 percent yearly growth rate without our business community's increased commitment to public service."

The BBB also retains more present members than any other bureau. Continuous membership is highly valued by the BBB. In fact, last spring the bureau honored 172 companies for either 25, 50 or 65 years of consistent support of the BBB.

Support Group Forms

Linda Feinberg, an Andover social worker and founder and director of Young Widows and Widowers, Ltd. of Massachusetts, will run a new support group for widowed people ages 50-69 beginning Dec. 19 in Andover from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. This group will serve newly widowed people as well as those widowed for several years. There will be occasional social gatherings.

"Middleaged widowed people in our community are feeling very left out," Feinberg explains.

"Middleaged widowed people need a group of their own."

Feinberg will be assisted by Andover social worker Francine Fuller who has helped facilitate Young Widows and Widowers for the last four years.

FOR 120 YEARS we have been a neighborhood bank committed to the community. We've helped people buy their first home and we've helped people save for their retirement. We are backed by some very incredible employees. People with the experience and caring to serve our customers and much, much more. These same people volunteer many hours of their time and talent to support worthwhile community programs. Programs in 1988 like ...

Easter Seals, Business Education Collaborative, Read Aloud, March of Dimes, Dollars for Scholars, City Wide Science Fair, Friends of the Lawrence Parks, Exchange Club of Greater Lawrence, Holy Family Hospital, Lawrence Elderly Outreach, Lawrence Strategy, United Cerebral Palsy, Fidelity House, Tenney Preservation, Lawrence Boys Club, Quota Club, Methuen Fair Housing, Boy Scouts of America, Lawrence Neighborhood Housing Services, Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce, United Fund, Centro Pan Americano, Affordable Housing, Northern Essex Association For Retarded Citizens, Pioneers of America, No. Andover Board of Trade, Knights of Columbus, Safety Foundation of Lawrence, North Andover Woman's Club, Lawrence Redevelopment Authority, Bread & Roses Heritage Committee.

These community service programs are just some of the many programs we support. Programs and organizations that make the Merrimack Valley a better place to be. We're here for tomorrow, and tomorrow looks bright.

United Fund Contributions Ahead Of Previous Year

With the campaign more than halfway complete, contributions to the Merrimack Valley United Fund are running slightly ahead of last year.

According to its second campaign report, the United Fund has received $4,058,489 in donations from 39,224 employees and firms in the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire. This is in comparison to the 35,019 who pledged $3,919,734 at the same time last year.

The increase in donations is attributed primarily to a boost in contributions from firms and employees in the manufacturing industry. According to the campaign report, 29,264 firms and employees in manufacturing have pledged $3,113,926 to date, up from the 24,741 who contributed $2,812,575 this time last year.

Key contributors in manufacturing include AT&T Technologies in North Andover, United Parcel Service in Chelmsford and Freudenberg Nonwovens LTD (Pellon) in Lowell.

Employee contributions at AT&T Technologies rose from $434,325 last year to $522,000 as did the company's gift—$178,000 to $191,600. Both are Fair Share pledges.

This year 880 UPS employees pledged a Fair Share gift of $80,762, an increase of $28,655 over last year when 565 employees donated $52,107. UPS increased its corporate gift from $6,012 to $24,240, also Fair Share.

The new campaign also produced successful results at Freudenberg Nonwovens LTD (Pellon) where employee contributions jumped from $13,862 to $21,318 while the corporate gift rose from $6,000 to $13,492, both Fair Share pledges.

Eighty percent of the employees participated in the United Fund campaign.

The figures indicate that contributions from those in the commercial industry are also on the rise. According to the campaign report, 5,554 employees and firms in the commercial industry have pledged $708,622 this year to date compared to 5,487 who donated $649,060 during this period last year.

Despite the increases, the report also reveals a decline in contributions in the public service, professional and individuals divisions. This year, 3,624 public service employees pledged $169,185 to date, down from 3,622 who donated $351,397 at this time last year. In the professional division, 430 employees pledged $35,613 to date compared to 781 who donated $66,057 during the 1987 campaign. In the individuals division, 352 people have contributed $31,143, a decrease from the 408 who pledged $40,645 last year.

At its kick-off dinner in October, the United Fund set a fund-raising goal of $6 million. Last year, the fund raised $5,723,334.

The Merrimack Valley United Fund is the single most important provider of human services in the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire. In 1987, 198,620 individuals received character building, counseling and health services through the 64-member agencies the United Fund supports. The United Fund is the lowest cost fund of its size in the country—92.9 cents of every dollar contributed goes directly to member agencies for vital human services to those in need.

The annual allocation of funds will be determined by a 75-member local budget committee.

Celebrate Holidays With Art Of State

Celebrate the holidays by including the finest Massachusetts' products in your Yuletide festivities. Heighten the anticipation of the season through decorating, gift-giving and good cooking.

For a new brochure featuring many holiday ideas from Massachusetts, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Massachusetts Department of Food and Agriculture, 100 Cambridge St., Boston, MA 02202.

Cut a fresh Massachusetts grown tree or decorate with native evergreen boughs and local poinsettias. Present friends and family with Massachusetts specialty gift packs featuring apple, maple and honey products.

Create a holiday feast using local and seasonal products such as wines and cheeses.

Since Colonial times, New Englanders have made wine from grapes, apples, berries, peaches, pears and plums. Today there are seven wineries in the Bay State, offering a variety of wines.

Local farmstead cheeses are fresh and flavorful and complement local wines. Serve mild cheese with mellow wine and sharper cheese with heartier wine. Bring on the eggnog and fresh local cider for holiday punches.

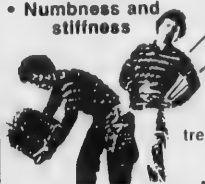

For a listing of Massachusetts' wine and cheese producers, specialty gifts and Christmas tree farms or turkey producers, contact the Department of Food and Agriculture.

Solid Waste Goals Established

By Virginia Cole

This is glass and plastic week. Clean out before Christmas and bring all your glass, green, brown or clear, and plastic food and detergent containers to the bin by the Town Offices Building Saturday, Dec. 17, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. I have been told that many of you need reminding, but this information is on your recycling calendar.

You who recycled paper last month saved the town $7,542.99. That is 119.73 tons times the $63 per ton to tip it into the incinerator. We also sold this paper for $1,197.30. Thank you.

The ten-point action agenda for the Commonwealth dated Nov. 8, 1988, and planned by Daniel Greenbaum, Commissioner of the Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, and funded by the Solid Waste Act gives all communities goals with dates attached.

1. Achieve a 10 percent waste reduction by the year 2000. Plans will be forthcoming to reallocate resources, change manufacturing and processing practices and adjust consumer behavior.

2. Create a network of public and private recycling facilities. Markets for recyclables developed, firms which deal in recycling processes such as de-inking and use of plastic are being encouraged to locate in Massachusetts. The Governor has ordered state purchases of recycled goods within three to five years recyclables will be banned from landfills and incinerators.

3. One hundred percent leaf and yard waste composting by 1992.

4. Regional initiatives encouraged with grants from DEQE.

5. Siting criteria for disposal facilities is completed and will be enforced.

6. Loans and grants from the solid waste act will help communities with development of facilities.

7. Moratoriums on new incinerators until an assessment of needs is finished for the entire state. Then only those which meet a state wide plan will be allowed.

8. Action will be taken to stop illegal dumping.

9. Action to clean up and prevent ground water contamination.

10. Complete a solid waste master plan. Date for this report is Nov. 1989.

Andover recyclers can see how this community can move into many of these goals without much trouble. We already have a population interested in recycling. We just need some public commitment and action by town officials.

Mr. Greenbaum ends his proclamation this way: "There is no choice but to stop focusing only on the next place to throw things away. There is no such play as 'away'."

Registration Renewal

You can renew your vehicle registrations by mail.

Renewing by mail is simple. Registration renewals are sent by the registry about six weeks prior to expiration. Owners must correct information, sign and record license numbers and have their insurance company sign and stamp the renewal card, then place the signed and stamped form in an envelope with a check for the correct amount and send to the Registry of Motor Vehicles, P.O. Box 853, Boston, Mass. 02103.

PROFESSIONAL QUALITY CASSETTE TAPE DECK

The TD202 features Ultrawide band frequency response, discrete circuit playback amplifiers and low negative feedback. Solenoid controls deliver smooth transport operation. The hand-selected hard permalloy record/play head ensures consistently accurate high frequency response.

The TD202 incorporates Dolby C noise reduction circuitry to render tape hiss inaudible. For optimum recording quality, a bias trim control allows the user to fine tune the unit to precisely match each tape formulation. A 7-segment peak channel peak-level meter system further aids in precise recording.

Raytheon Santa, Helpers Ready Deliveries To Needy

It will be a Raytheon truck and rented bus instead of reindeer and sleigh, but the delivery of presents will nonetheless carry all the magic of Christmas.

The occasion will be Raytheon's 36th annual Toy Parade and, by the time it's complete, nearly 3,000 toys and gifts will have been distributed to less-fortunate people of all ages throughout the Boston area.

The Raytheon Toy Parade is organized and run by the company's microwave and power tube division. Nearly 30 division employees, a dozen dressed as Santa Claus and his helpers, will visit seven local social services and health area agencies on Dec. 16.

The group will travel by bus, with the presents following in a Raytheon truck. The stops will range from facilities for children with terminal illnesses to those for adults with severe mental or physical handicaps.

The gifts will include toys and games, small items of clothing and personal toiletries. The group will not only hand out gifts at each location, but sing songs with the clients and patients. In addition to the personal visits, the group will deliver gifts to 14 other agencies.

The group raised funds throughout the year, resulting in more than $12,000 in presents.

"We used many different methods," said 1988 Toy Parade chairman Bruce Boulter, "from raffles to bake sales and beginning back when few people were thinking about Christmas. Once again this year, division employees gave their full support, both financially and in terms of personal time.

"Our volunteers hold all types of jobs and work across all the division's plants. Plus our two unions, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Local 1505 and International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Lodge 1836, have played a very large and active role."

Having raised the money and made the purchases, the group faced one more essential task: wrapping the nearly 3,000 gifts.

"We needed an average of 10 people wrapping four to five hours a night for six nights to get it done," Boulter said. "And we went through seven rolls, each eight inches in diameter, of oversize paper kindly donated by G&S Paper in Waltham."

"It's a lot of work, but it's all worth it when you see the faces of the people you visit light up with excitement."

The Toy Parade began in 1952 when a small group of microwave and power tube employees decided to forego Christmas cards to buy toys for needy children. Since then the event has grown to encompass needy people of all ages, but the name Toy Parade has remained.

Raytheon's microwave and power tube division, based in Waltham, employs 2,700 people in the production of microwave devices and industrial components. The division also has facilities in Northborough and Quincy.

Receives State Award

Jean Dyer of 15 Cherrywood Circle received a state award from Gov. Michael Dukakis last month.

Dyer, coordinator of the Health Education Support Center at Northern Essex Community College, won the "Pride in Performance" award sponsored by the state.

The award is given to state employees who demonstrate innovation and creativity on the job.

Dyer was nominated by Northern Essex and joined about 1,400 other people at an awards dinner at Park Plaza. Of those, about 700 received the award from the governor. Award winners also received a desk pen and pencil set.

Dyer coordinates a resource area for Northern Essex students in health-related programs of study. The college's Health Education Support Center has an audio-visual library and mock hospital room, among other things, she said.

Injuries Kill More Than Disease

Injuries kill twice as many children and young adults as disease, and most injuries can be prevented, the Department of Public Health reported.

Public Health Commissioner Dr. Deborah Prothrow-Stith announced the department is launching a new initiative, "Staying Alive," a comprehensive effort to prevent deaths of children and young adults due to injuries and violence.

Nearly 600 young people between ages 1 and 19 die each year in Massachusetts. The study of those deaths, released by the Department of Public Health, challenges the belief that those deaths are isolated, random events.

"This study, 'Staying Alive...Preventing Child Death,' identifies clear patterns among the deaths of children and young adults," Prothrow-Stith said. "By documenting those patterns, the study will allow us to carefully target our programs to reach those children in the greatest danger."

Motor vehicle accidents were the leading cause of deaths due to injury, followed by homicide and suicide.

The Department of Public Health conducted the study at the request of the Legislature's Special Commission on Violence Against Children. The study looked at the deaths among Massachusetts' residents between 1 and 19 years old for 1980 through 1985.

In 1985, a typical year, 581 children and adolescents died. Three hundred and eighty-six deaths were due to injuries; the remaining 195 were due to medical conditions, primarily chronic conditions such as cancer and birth defects.

The study found a strong link between the cause of death and such factors as race, sex, age and socioeconomic status.

- The victims of motor vehicle accidents were most likely to be white suburban males.

- White male teens are the most frequent suicide victims.

- Minority males in Boston faced the greatest risk of homicide.

- Young children were injured most frequently in or around the home.

- Black children were twice as likely to die as white children.

- Children in poor communities were more likely to die than children in wealthy communities.

- Eighty-eight percent of all injury deaths among 15- to 19-year-olds resulted from motor vehicle accidents, homicide and suicide.

"The numbers of deaths show a fraction of the problems of violence and unintentional injury," Prothrow-Stith said. "For each child that dies, 45 children are admitted to a hospital and 1,300 children require emergency room treatment for injuries. The toll—in disabilities, in health care costs, and in human pain and suffering—is beyond calculation."

"The Department of Public Health is establishing an office of violence prevention to develop a program to reduce intentional injuries. It will supplement the department's statewide comprehensive injury prevention program, which is regarded as a national model for reducing unintentional injuries."

She also announced the formation of an office of disability prevention which will develop a statewide strategy for reducing disabilities due to trauma and developmental handicaps.

Robert M. Henderson, president of Andover Bank, gives Andover resident Lynn Sheehan a $500 scholarship for her essay on "quality service."

Wins Scholarship For Essay

Lynn Sheehan of Andover won a $500 scholarship from Andover Bank for an essay she wrote about "quality service." Sheehan was one of five area students announced as the bank's scholarship winners by Robert M. Henderson, president and chief executive officer of Andover Bank. Henderson said the money will be used for their continuing education.

One winner was selected for each town in which the bank has an office: Andover, North Andover, Lawrence, Methuen and Tewksbury. Jennifer Slosek won for North Andover.

In order to compete for the scholarship, high school seniors from the five towns were required to submit an essay on "What Quality Service Means to Me."

Starting this week, Sheehan and Slosek's essays will be displayed in the Andover Bank office in their respective hometowns.

Essays by three finalists from each town will also be on display. Karyn

Baker, Sarah McLarney and Erin Wallace of Andover and Patrick McGravey, Elizabeth Haley and Heather Wolf of North Andover were named finalists in the competition.

Henderson said the theme was chosen because his bank is "committed to providing quality banking service throughout the Merrimack Valley."

"We at the bank felt it was important to ask our local students to think about the issue of quality service," he added. "In our economy, which is becoming more service-oriented, it is these students that will be setting the service standards of the future."

School Bus Caution Urged For Winter

The School Transportation Association of Massachusetts urges children to be especially careful when traveling to school during the winter months.

"Because there is often snow and ice during the winter, children need to take extra precautions to ensure their safety," said Ken Ballou, president of STAM and senior operations manager of Ryder Student Transportation Systems.

"Children should allow extra time to get to the bus stop and wear bright clothing so they can be seen in the early morning or late afternoon when the sky is grey, and they should wear warm clothes including hats and mittens, so they will be comfortable while waiting for the bus," he said.

"When children are at the bus stop, they shouldn't play in the snow or slide on snowbanks or ice patches because they could slide under the wheel of the bus. Parents should tell their children it is dangerous to throw snowballs at the bus and, because buses need extra room to stop when there is ice and snow on the roads, they should stand away from the bus," Ballou continued.

Motorists, too, should exercise caution and remember that Massachusetts' law mandates that cars in both directions must come to a complete stop when they see the flashing red lights and extended stop arm on a school bus.

Wish Trees Decorate Banks

The wishes of 300 children are tied in gold ribbon and hanging on the brightly lighted holiday "wish trees" in the seven Lawrence Savings bank offices throughout Greater Lawrence. Customers, employees and friends of the bank will work together to help make these wishes come true.

These are not grand wishes. They are simple requests for a toy or clothing. One wish reads, "Baby, four weeks old, needs clothes;" or another, "Cathy, five years old, would like a 'My Little Pony;' or 'Juan, age 13, needs a sweater (boys' size 18)."

"Christmas is for children, but some children have to go without because there isn't enough money left after food shopping. Some families may not even be able to afford basics like clothing. These are the people we want to reach," said Coreen Padova, manager of the Shawshen Andover office of the bank.

The names of the children are known only by a few people at the Big Brother/Big Sister Association, the Salvation Army, Merrimack Valley Catholic Charities, Family Service Association, Community Action Council, Lazarus House and the Women's Resource Center, all serving Greater Lawrence. These organizations chose the children and will distribute the gifts.

Padova said the response has been overwhelming. More than 100 wishes were selected in the first weekend. In the first five days, 234 wishes were taken by people who were moved to share what they have with others. A gentleman visiting the bank last Friday evening took the last seven wishes off one tree. Girl Scout Troop 617 of North Andover selected eight wishes for girls between the ages of 10 and 14. All gifts will be returned by Dec. 19 in a wrapped package with the wish request attached.

Coin Sales

More than 20 million ounces of the government's American Eagle Silver Bullion Coins have been sold worldwide, qualifying the Eagles as the most popular silver bullion coin investment now available. Since the coins were made available in November 1986, 20,170,000 one-ounce silver eagles and 2,907,502 proof collector's versions have been sold.

The Eagles, which are priced based on the daily market value of silver, are the only silver bullion coins backed for weight and content by the United States government and are widely available in coin shops, banks, brokerage firms and other financial institutions.

Office Specialists Aid Red Cross

The Greater Lawrence American Red Cross chapter will have the help of Office Specialists over the holidays. Office Specialists' Methuen office will collect stocking stuffers and canned food items for the needy children and families the chapter serves as part of a program organized by Office Specialists for all of its 22 locations throughout New England.

Each year, Office Specialists selects an organization to work with to collect gifts and/or donations to help those less fortunate over the holiday season. The Office Specialists "Ring of Friendship Holiday Program" began in 1984 and has grown ever since, say staffers.

"We are thrilled to be working with the American Red Cross for our 1988 Ring of Friendship Holiday Program," said Nancy Watts, Office Specialists New England region recruiting manager. "The American Red Cross is such a notable, worthwhile organization. To know that we can help them bring cheer to needy children and their families during the holidays makes this program very special."

Gifts and donations for the Red Cross will be collected throughout December from Office Specialists' temporary and permanent employees.

The American Red Cross chapters across New England coordinate various programs to help needy children and families as well as disaster victims in their areas. American Red Cross programs, such as the stocking stuffer and food pantry programs, are made possible by the voluntary services and financial support of citizens and industries across the United States.

Office Specialists, a leader in the temporary help industry for more than 25 years, specializes in the placement of secretarial, office, accounting and light industrial help on short- and long-term temporary assignments. Office Specialists is a member of the National Association of Temporary Services.

ULowell Offers Radon Education

It is estimated that 5,000 to 20,000 people in the United States die each year of lung cancer caused by radon.

That serious health hazard has prompted the University of Lowell Radiological Sciences Program to take a leadership role in educating the public about radon. ULowell professors offer a free presentation to community groups which stresses the need for every home to be tested for radon.

"We believe that it is important for the public to continue to receive balanced information about the radon problem which is the most important radiation protection need of our society today," said Dr. Kenneth Skrable, ULowell professor of radiological sciences.

"In addition to receiving a clear description of the radon problem, the public needs to know how to obtain a test for radon, how radon affects our health and property and how to and how not to fix a radon problem. As members of the radiation protection community and as faculty of a public higher education university, we believe this is our responsibility," he added.

Skrable noted that recent measurements of radon throughout the United States indicate that more homes than expected exceed the Environmental Protection Agency corrective action guide of four picocuries per liter. He said the amount of radon in a home depends on the soil content of naturally occurring radium which produces the radon gas, the passage of radon through the soil to the home and the degree of ventilation of a home.

"To help educate and motivate members of the general public to take the initial most important step of testing their homes for radon, we have developed and offer a free demonstration and presentation about the radon problem and its solution," he said.

The presentation emphasizes that simple methods of testing are available from various commercial and public service organizations and there are simple, cost-effective methods for reducing elevated levels of radon.

The average cost per wish is $3,000 and the Boston chapter has granted more than 10 wishes since its inception in 1987. ## AAA Offers Guide To Entertaining

'Tis the season of "good cheer" and concerned hosts can give a successful party and still assure that guests will drive home safely by toasting the holidays with zero-proof drinks, according to the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley.

To encourage party givers to dispense alcohol sensibly and provide alternatives to non-drinkers at holiday festivities, the motoring federation created "Good Cheer - AAA's Guide to Responsible Entertaining."

The 20-page guide features recipes for 36 simple-to-make, non-alcoholic drinks and punches and high-protein food, which can help slow down alcohol absorption for guests who drink.

Recipes were collected from AAA clubs in the United States and Canada, which sponsors anti-drinking and driving programs such as "First a Friend, Then a Host."

"FAFATAH is a public awareness program designed to help reduce the number of drinking drivers on the highways during the holiday season by promoting responsible entertaining," said David J. Christensen, executive vice president and treasurer of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley.

The drink recipes primarily feature fruit juices, ice cream and spices. Included are such taste-tempting creations as "Christmas Kiss," "Santa Colada," "Mistletoe Cocoa" and "Hot Buttered Rumless."

"The Lamborghini" includes a non-alcoholic Bloody Mary-type base with spices and is served hot, garnished with smoked sausage and mozzarella cheese.

Recipes for rich, starch foods, such as chili-cheese cubes, confetti cheddar log, vegetable pasta casserole and New Orleans crab-stuffed potatoes, are also included.

"These foods act as a sponge to help hold alcohol in the stomach and slow absorption into the blood stream," Christensen said, warning, however, that drinkers still can become intoxicated on a full stomach.

"Food in the stomach means that alcohol is absorbed more slowly, but all the alcohol still is absorbed," he added.

AAA's guide also suggests hosts follow the ABCs of successful party giving:

A—Alcohol Awareness. Monitor the number of drinks consumed and provide plenty of non-alcoholic alternatives.

B—Buffet. Always serve food with alcoholic beverages and as the hour becomes late, put away the alcohol and continue to offer a good supply of food.

C—Car Pool. Arrange transportation for individuals who are not in shape to safely drive themselves home.

"Hosts should not be swayed by alcohol-affected guests who claim they can drive home safely," Christensen said. "After only one drink, a motorist's judgment can be impaired, but after four drinks, a driver is 10 times more likely as a non-drinker to have an accident."

The guide also contains a blood alcohol concentration table and detect-a-drunk games to help determine if guests have had too much to drink.

The booklet is available from participating AAA clubs or by writing to AAA Good Cheer, 8111 Gatehouse Road, Falls Church, VA 22047.

GCA Sponsors Seminars

GCA Corporation, Andover, a unit of General Signal, has joined with the Massachusetts Small Business Development Center's Manufacturers Assistance Program and the Massachusetts Office of Business Development to sponsor manufacturing management seminars for its suppliers. GCA is seeking to strengthen its relationship with local suppliers who are small and medium-size manufacturers.

The first seminar, on production control, was held Dec. 15 for 12 of GCA's metalworking suppliers.

"To maintain their competitive position, manufacturing companies have found it imperative to work with suppliers to increase quality and efficient production of parts," said John Ciccarelli, state director of the Massachusetts Small Business Development Center. "We have targeted a program to support efforts to increase the competitiveness of small and medium-size manufacturers."

"We appreciate GCA's stepping forward to support this program," stated Tim Hoffman of the Massachusetts Office of Business Development. "Since GCA and other large manufacturers rely on local suppliers for many of their parts and components, it makes sense to use their insights and contacts with suppliers in the conducting of a program of seminars to help small manufacturers improve their manufacturing practices."

Peter Simona, president of GCA, views this program as a means of strengthening the relationship with GCA's local vendors. "GCA's ability to design and manufacture products with the quality and responsiveness demanded by our customers is highly dependent upon our suppliers' ability to produce, with minimum delivery times, quality components and parts," he said.

Michael P. Werner, GCA vice president of manufacturing, said "To help suppliers improve their performance, GCA has been working with suppliers to assure that parts specifications are easily understood and units economically produced. We are also providing suppliers with more information on the long-term demand for parts they supply. The objective of this seminar is to improve delivery performance through better planning, shop floor control and increased flexibility."

GCA is one of the world's leading manufacturers of wafer steppers which are used in a critical step in integrated circuit device manufacturing. They are highly precise optical, mechanical and electronic systems which, in a photographic process called microlithography, place microscopic images of integrated circuits on silicon wafers with incredible accuracy. After further processing, the wafers eventually become integrated circuit devices.

GCA's wafer steppers are used in manufacture of leading edge semiconductor devices throughout the world.

GCA Corporation became part of the General Signal Semiconductor Equipment Group last June. General Signal Corporation, headquartered in Stamford, Conn., with 1987 sales of $1.6 billion, is a leader in instrumentation and control technology for semiconductor production, telecommunications, industrial automation, energy management and rail transportation.

The Massachusetts Small Business Development Center is a partnership with the federal Small Business Administration, M.O.B.D. and a consortium of universities led by the University of Massachusetts at Amherst. The manufacturers assistance program is designed to fit the needs of small manufacturers through the offering of low-cost training programs and free one-on-one counseling. In addition to production control, seminars are offered on using appropriate

Physician Referral Offered

Holy Family Hospital and Medical Center has introduced a new service designed to assist residents of the Merrimack Valley in finding a physician to meet their specific health care needs.

Physician referral is a free community service which provides individuals with helpful information about office location, a physician's board certification and specialty and the medical insurance plans in which he or she participates.

"The hospital wants to make it not only possible but practical and convenient for people to generate their health care service in this community," commented William L. Lane, president/chief executive officer. "The way to make that happen is simply to ensure that individuals have direct and timely access to a physician of their choosing who practices in the local community."

The physician referral service covers physicians in the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire who are accepting new patients in family medicine, general practice, internal medicine, obstetrics/gynecology, cardiology and pediatrics. The service can also provide information on specialists in the ophthalmology, plastic surgery, neurology, urology, orthopedics and other fields.

Individuals without a primary care physician can call the hospital Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. for further information.

Nutcracker

In celebration of the Boston Garden's 60th anniversary "The Nutcracker on Ice," a unique version of this holiday favorite, will perform at Boston Garden on Sunday, Dec. 18, at 1 p.m.

The tale of "The Nutcracker" dates back to 1886. The story centers around a little girl named Clara and a very special Nutcracker figurine. The Nutcracker captures Clara's imagination and in a dream, she is transformed into a miniature world, one of large mice, huge toys, oversized surroundings and a life-size Nutcracker.

Lorna Wighton and John Dowding, three-time ice dance champions of Canada, will skate.

technologies to compete in the 1990s, cost control, quality control, geometric dimensioning and tolerancing, product development, customer relations, accounting procedures, human resource management and sources of capital.

Paul Vande Geer, program manager of the program, states that "the seminars are conducted by individuals with experience operating manufacturing companies and evaluations from past participants in these courses has been highly favorable. Thus, we feel we are on the right track in developing this program."

The center will conduct a trade fair in the fall of 1989. "We expect to bring together over 100 small manufacturing companies with buyers from at least 60 major companies," Vande Geer said. "The trade fair provides a low cost means for small firms to present their capabilities and products to buyers and enables buyers to efficiently review a number of potential new suppliers."

The Massachusetts Office of Business Development is a state economic development agency which helps companies obtain state business services which include obtaining financing, work force recruitment and training, export assistance, site location assistance and helping companies understand and comply with regulations. To expand market opportunities for the metalworking and plastics manufacturers in Massachusetts, directories of the Massachusetts' metalworking and plastics industries have been produced to help potential customers identify suppliers with the production capabilities they need.

Gift Certificates For Utility Bill Available

Do you know someone who could use some energy for the holiday season? Now you can buy some in the form of gift certificates from Massachusetts Electric. Sold in $5 and $10 denominations, the certificates work like cash when customers pay their monthly Mass. Electric bill.

"Our energy gift certificates can be purchased at any of our company locations during normal business hours," said Edward E. Mulligan, president of Mass. Electric. "If you're looking for a gift for the person who has everything, buying an energy gift certificate may be the solution."

According to the company, the gift certificates can be also be purchased by mail. A coupon has been included with Mass. Electric's October bills. It can be mailed to the customer service office with a check for the total amount of the certificates ordered. Customers should allow approximately one week for delivery by return mail. The request should not be included with monthly electric bill payments.

For further information or to order gift certificates, write to: E.J. Donaldson, Director, Customer Service, Massachusetts Electric, 25 Research Drive, Westborough, Mass. 01582.

Mass. Electric's affiliated companies—the Narragansett Electric Company in Rhode Island and Granite State Electric company in New Hampshire—also offer gift certificates.

Mass. Electric serves 871,000 customers in 146 communities across the commonwealth.

High-Tech Training Ground

Highly trained scientists, engineers and technicians are among New England's most prominent exports. So conclude Ralph Gentile and Keith Stave in "Highly Trained Workers and the Resurgence of New England: Interregional Flows of Scientists, Engineers and Technicians, 1975-80," appearing in the most recent issue of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston's New England Economic Indicators.

Gentile and Stave discovered an exceptionally high degree of mobility among New England scientists, engineers and technicians between 1975 and '80. New England, experiencing its first high-tech boom during this period, drew a sizeable flow of high-tech professionals into the region. However, a still greater number moved out.

The only area from which New England gained a significant number of high-tech professionals on net, was the Middle Atlantic. Conversely, it lost significant numbers of such workers to the Pacific and South Atlantic regions.

Gentile and Stave found a large net inflow among the youngest group of scientists, engineers and technicians, those 21 years and under. The greatest number leaving the region are between 22 and 39. The authors conclude the reason for this pattern is that New England serves as a "high-tech training ground" for the rest of the nation.

Gentile and Stave believe that New England will remain a net exporter of scientists, engineers and technicians.

Hazards

Small colorful plants, alcoholic beverages and bright decorations help make the holidays sparkle, however, these items can create a holiday household hazard for children says the Massachusetts Poison Control System.

Alcohol is a dangerous poison for children. As little as one-half ounce of alcohol can cause seizures or low blood sugar in a child.

Gifts containing alcohol, such as wine or liquor or rum-laced fruit cakes, should be placed where children cannot reach.

All partially finished drinks should be poured down the drain to prevent children from sampling these leftovers. Other sources of alcohol include cologne, aftershave, perfume and mouthwash.

When giving

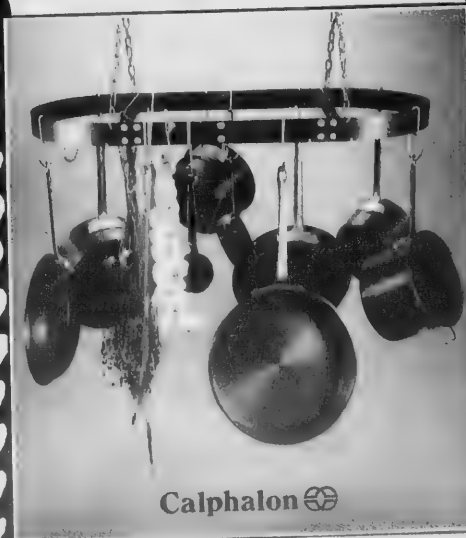

plants to people with small children, give nontoxic varieties

Dining Hall Transformed For Holly Ball

A team of faculty and students worked for most of Saturday, transforming the student dining room into a warm and inviting atmosphere suitable for the semiformal Holly Ball. Students dined on a Chinese buffet catered by the Andover Jade and danced to music provided by WAAF disc jockey Rick MacKenzie.

Santa Claus, portrayed by teacher Jay Darrin, made an appearance, and many of the students took home polaroid pictures of themselves with St. Nick.

Parent's Advisory Council members Sandy Bertetti and Rosemary Radulski joined faculty members Karen Burke, Fred Borello, Jay Darrin, Ruby Easton, Vern Frieze, Dave Gangi, Mike Marcoux and Sally O'Brien in organizing the event.

The students donated the extra food from the buffet to Bread and Roses, a Lawrence soup kitchen.

Police, Fire Chiefs Say No-Smoking Policy Tough To Enforce

By Frank Messina

With two weeks remaining before a new no-smoking policy covering both fire- and policemen goes into effect, department chiefs are doing a slow burn over how to enforce the law.

Under state legislation to be enacted Jan. 1, 1989, firemen appointed after the new year must be non-smokers with police coming under the edict as of January, 1988. Making sure employees don't smoke at the station is no problem, Andover chiefs say. But checking up on what they do at home is another story.

"I don't think you're going to see chiefs running around to anyone's house to enforce this," said Police Chief James Johnson. "I mean, this is not going to be the KGB at work."

"I don't relish having to enforce it," said Fire Chief Harold Hayes. "I'm checking to see if we are constitutionally able to do it."

Hayes and Johnson aren't alone in wondering how to throw their weight behind a law that is certain to be tested in court, the chiefs predict.

"I wouldn't be surprised if we had cases (filed) in the near future," said Susan Adler, assistant state personnel director.

Adler said the no-smoking statute was part of a large pension reform bill that was passed by the state in December, 1987.

Because their high-stress job puts fire- and policemen in greater danger of heart problems, the state and municipalities are responsible for heart-related problems. With this liability on civic shoulders, Adler said the state felt "it was their (employees') responsibility to reduce our risk by being non-smokers."

"If a policeman was to have a heart attack while on vacation in the Bahamas, it would be considered job-related," she said.

In one case in an Oklahoma federal court, the bench upheld the dismissal of a civic employee who was fired after being seen smoking on lunch break, Adler said.

Currently, Johnson has two cadets in training who will be under the law, while Hayes doesn't have any one who falls under the no-smoking policy.

Police are allowed to smoke in smoking-designated areas of the building, while firemen can smoke in their living quarters. Members of both departments are not allowed to light up in public areas of the station they both share on North Main Street.

Both Hayes and Johnson said they have no idea how they could find out if an employee was smoking at home.

"I don't know how we're going to enforce it," said Johnson.

"I guess you have to cross that bridge when you get to it," said Hayes.

Adler said the state knows that compliance will be less than 100 percent.

The object, she said, was to get a commitment from local agencies to hire non-smokers.

Master Plan Public Forum Attracts Few

After several months "on the road" discussing the town master plan with community groups, the Planning Board brought the project home Tuesday night, holding a public forum at West Middle School.

The turnout was sparse—precisely the reason planning staff instigated the outreach program—but those attending generally praised planning department efforts and offered suggestions on how to improve the master plan process.

Ruth Scarbeau of the League of Women Voters told the board her group, which recently completed a 12-city study of master plans in other municipalities, "is willing and eager to help the process along."

In the league's opinion, the town doesn't have a cohesive master plan, just a series of bound appendices, and the current study should address that problem, Scarbeau said.

When asked if the league had any criticisms of the on-going process, Scarbeau replied that league was encouraged over the master plan dialogue.

George Danneman, a candidate in next year's selectmen's election, called the group meeting concept "excellent" and added that a townwide questionnaire covering planning issues should be distributed.

Once a master plan is approved by the town, regular updates should be prepared and voted on at Town Meeting, said Danneman. Otherwise, "you're always going to have some question in some people's minds that this is the master plan people want."

Planning Board Rejects Plans For Pine Cone Lane, Kahlia Circle

The Planning Board rejected preliminary plans for two small proposed developments at its Tuesday night meeting.

Bob McCloud, a local engineer representing the owners of each property, was on the receiving end of both denials.

The larger of the two proposals, Pine Cone Lane, a four-lot conventional subdivision owned by Phillip Froburg, was criticized by the board on several counts.

Included in comments from Town Planner Steve Colyer, which were accepted by the board, were complaints that the:

- Configuration of two plots on the parcel, located at Tewksbury Street at Yardley Road, were poorly designed, said Colyer. Two of the lots were characterized by long, thin stretches of land running alongside, or near, the Shawshen River.

- McCloud indicated that Froburg, an avid canoist, felt that the extensive river access was an advantage.

- Colyer criticized the layout, saying the homes on the two lots were too close together.

- Need existed to clarify frontage and setback lines for the first lot.

Three Schools Test Slightly High For Radon

By Julie M. Barry

Three public schools have slightly high radon levels. But it's not an immediate health problem, and measures are being taken to reduce the amount of radon in those buildings, according to Andover Board of Health Director Everett Penney.

A series of radon tests were conducted in all eight public school buildings at the beginning of November. The results from three schools—Shawsheen, South and Andover High—though slightly higher than the state department of health's recommended level for clean air, wasn't significantly high, Penney said.

Four picocuries per liter is what the state recommends, Penney explained. The reading at the Shawsheen School of 15 was the highest in Andover's schools. This was followed by a 6.6 reading at the high school and 4.4 reading at South Elementary School.

When a radon level surpasses 200, it's dangerous, Penney said. In view of this, he said, "I feel confident that there's no imminent threat to the public health."

The results do indicate the need to change the building's ventilation and to re-test those three school buildings, Penney said.

Measures have been taken to improve the affected school's ventilation, and re-testing will take place in January.

Changes in the ventilation at Shawsheen wasn't a problem because the high reading was in a classroom that had previously been a kitchen area. Vents were already in place, Penney said, and are now being used again—this time, to reduce the level of radon.

"Radon, for the most part, is easily solved," Penney said. He said increasing the ventilation takes care of 99.9 percent of the cases because it pushes out the contaminated air.

The tests in January will determine if ventilating the schools has solved the problem. Testing in the winter months gives the most accurate readings, Penney said, because air isn't escaping through open windows.

Test kits were purchased from Niton Corp. in Lexington, a testing outlet certified by the Environmental Protection Agency, Penney said.

The kits consist of two canisters. Using recommended guidelines, one is placed on the ground level, where the radon comes from, and one is placed on the first floor, Penney said. Results can be determined after the canisters have been in the building for 24 to 48 hours.

Here are the results of the tests in the public school buildings.

Andover High 6.6 and 3.5
Bancroft Elementary .6 and .5
Doherty Middle .9 and .4
Sanborn Elementary 1.0 and 1.0

Planner Proposes Restricting Housing Tracts

By Frank Messina

Developers would be forced to build less homes per housing tract under zoning bylaw amendments proposed by town Planner Steve Colyer to the Planning Board on Tuesday night.

With the number of prime building lots becoming scarce, developers are focusing their attention on smaller, irregularly-shaped parcels that lie closer to protected wetlands areas, Colyer told the board.

"I'm not talking about sweeping changes," said Colyer. "This is more a tightening of loose nut and bolts" in the zoning bylaws.

Specifically, Colyer would like to see the regulation that allows a developer, when figuring the minimum area required for a lot, to include 10 percent of abutting wetlands.

The town is beginning to see a glut of plans for smaller tracts that try to squeeze a home onto an irregularly-shaped plot, said Colyer.

The planner gave an example of an "hour-glass" plot built a few years ago where the home was constructed at one end of the hour-glass. The land narrows to a point "where the homeowner would have to build a footbridge" to walk into his backyard, said Colyer.

Such a design winds up forcing homes to practically bump against each other, he said, adding that in the "hour-glass" plot, the home was built within 30 feet of the neighboring house.

Colyer also suggested that language directing plots to be more rectangular be put in the bylaws.

"We've seen proposals with lots shaped in every conceivable manner," said Colyer in a recent memo to the board. "Everything is designed to meet the barest minimum standards with no thought given to the resulting environment the people will be placed in."

"Letting the 'buyer beware' is not adequate response. I believe it's time to get back to creating living spaces, not problems."

Board member Susan Stott supported the proposed bylaw changes, saying, "the way I look at it, as land becomes scarcer, people will look for loopholes. What we would be trying to do is to close the loopholes."

Concerns over the legality of the proposed changes and whether they could be considered re-zoning were expressed by board member Carl Byers.

Stott replied that "the spirit and letter of the law have separated. What we're trying to do is put them back together."

The board passed the proposals to Town Counsel Robert Zollner and scheduled further discussion in January.

Project Shelter

Commonwealth Mortgage Company, Inc. of Andover will donate fifty dollars to the homeless for every approved mortgage application received during December and January, according to John J. Sousa, Jr. Commonwealth's president and chief executive officer. The money raised will be donated to Project Shelter, WCVB-TV's fund raising campaign that directly benefits the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless.

This marks the second year of Commonwealth's efforts to assist the growing number of homeless individuals and families throughout New England. Last year the mortgage firm raised over $50,000 for the homeless, $25,550 in Massachusetts alone.

To increase participation in this year's drive, Commonwealth will also match, dollar for dollar up to fifty dollars, donations to Project Shelter from any real estate brokerage firms who wish to make a contribution.

Mr. Sousa noted that "while most of us anticipate the festivities of the holiday season, our homeless neighbors can only dread the severity of another long New England winter. Helping families attain the dream of home ownership has been Commonwealth's objective for over 25 years. We believe that it is appropriate for those of us in finance and real estate to help those for whom the dream has faded." WCVB-TV's live fund raising special, "A Home for the Holidays," December 19.

For those special and not so special occasions... for yourself and your loved ones, we offer wide selection of coats, suits, dresses, sportswear and accessories to please your impeccable taste.

Vandals knocked over 76 tombstones in West Parish Cemetery last weekend. Police say they are charging two teenagers with malicious damage.

was reported.

Upset relatives streamed through the arches at West Parish Cemetery Monday and Tuesday as word of the desecration spread through the community.

"It was like Grand Central Station here," said Fred Pease, cemetery supervisor.

Pease finished the job of uprighting the markers, some of which weigh more than a ton. Workers used a series of chains and levers to restore the stones to their original position.

"It was a lot easier to push them down than it has been getting them back up again," he said.

The gravestones were in a relatively new section of the cemetery with the markers dating from the 1940s to the current decade, said Pease. Church officials have had a hard time contacting relatives who own the plots because many of them have changed their names through marriage, he added.

Ballardvale Man Runs For School Committee

Dr. Christopher Outwin of High Street, Ballardvale, has declared his candidacy for School Committee.

Outwin earned his doctorate in education at Boston University and has taught at the college level since 1981. He has been a teacher at Ithaca College, Northern Essex Community College and is in his second year at Emerson College in Boston. In addition to his teaching duties, he serves as undergraduate coordinator counseling student broadcast organizations and coordinating undergraduate advising.

A parent volunteer who has been a member of the South Elementary School building needs task force and a computer coach, he has one child in second grade, another soon to enter first grade and a 3-month-old who will graduate from high school in the year 2006.

"It is clear that we are entering a critical phase in the history of the Andover school system," Outwin said. "The town needs to prepare now for a school system that will meet the needs of its children in the 21st century."

He said American public schools are facing "many complex but exciting challenges."

"Analyzing the complex nature of these challenges will require considerable expertise," he said. "Once the solutions have been identified, carefully refined communications skills will be required to present them to the community for action. I have the educational expertise and the communication skills the School Committee will need in these critical transition years."

Earthquake Close To Home For Local Armenian Community

By Julie M. Barry

The tragic earthquake in Soviet Armenia that killed a reported 60,000 and left some 500,000 homeless has touched the lives of local residents.

The incident has shocked and saddened the local Armenian community as most have family ties to their homeland. Armenian churches are in a state of mourning, and a number of local Armenians are involved in efforts to aid the earthquake victims.

"There's definitely a big bond" between Armenians in the United States and those in the Soviet Union, said Chake Boloian, a sales clerk at Nazarian Jewelers on Main Street. "We feel extremely sad."

And this sentiment goes for non-Armenians as well. Customers have called the store to express their sympathies, Boloian said.

Lydia Tateosian, owner of Lydia's Hair Stylist, Elm Square, said she collected $201 in one and a half days at her store. One woman, who wasn't a customer, walked in to the

Groups Send Money, Clothes To Victims

Andover is actively involved in the relief efforts to aid the Armenians affected by last week's earthquake.

Several local businesses are getting involved in the drive to collect money, new winter clothing and blankets.

Here is a list of several localities accepting donations.

Lydia's Hair Stylist, 2 Elm Square. Checks should be made out to Holy Cross Armenian Church, with Armenian relief fund written on the check. Or the checks may be mailed directly to the Holy Cross Armenian Church, 54 E. Haverhill St., Lawrence, Mass., 01842.

House of Clean, 77 Main St. Checks should be made out to AGBU Armenia Aid. Blankets are also being cleaned free of charge and will be donated to the relief effort. Or the checks may be mailed to Merrimack Valley Armenian General Benevolent Union, care of Marlene Aznoian, 216 Greenwood Road, Andover, Mass.

Sarkisian Farms, 159 Chandler Road. Checks should be made out to St. Gregory Armenian Church, with Armenian relief fund written on the check. Or the checks may be mailed directly to St. Gregory Armenian Church, 158 Main St., North Andover, Mass. 01845.

Lowell Armenian Relief Society, 142 Liberty St., Lowell, Mass., 01853. Checks should be made out to the Armenian Relief Society. The center is also accepting new clothing, blankets and medical supplies.

The Armenian General Benevolent Union in Watertown has set up a hotline number, 1-800-282-9877, to answer questions about aid to the earthquake victims.

Joyce Sandison takes her Christmas cards seriously. Here, Joyce and Jill Hrinlack, behind her, take a look at the selection at Thompson's Office Products.

Koren Betty, 16 months, daughter of Daniel and Patricia Betty, doesn't seem fazed by the man in the red suit.

Nine-month-old Laura Stone waits patiently for her mother, Sharon, to pick out a few Christmas gifts at Thompson's. Thompson's was one of many Andover businesses that stayed open late Friday for a pre-holiday open house.

Michelle Clark braved freezing temperatures Friday to sing a few songs on behalf of the Salvation Army. Clark was accompanied by Valerie Howlman on keyboards.

Stephen Comeau, son of Peter and Lori Comeau, is obviously in the spirit of the season. Stephen was at Andover Savings Bank Friday.

OPINION

Commendable Police Work Overcomes Vandalism

Andover police, in particular Kevin Burke and Detective David Grant, are to be commended for their diligent and quick action in apprehending at least two youths who will be charged with overturning upwards of 70 gravestones at West Parish cemetery last weekend, some of which are shown in the above photo. The damage took place either late Saturday or early Sunday. Police from the outset said they were taking the matter seriously and on Wednesday announced they had found at least two persons who admitted to the damage. Their action in the matter is commendable not only because of the damage caused, but the desecration and disrespect shown by those responsible.

DOWN THE YEARS

100 Years Ago — December 1888

Mr. J.P. Scott has purchased a handsome double gun of the celebrated "Fox" pattern.

The Venetian Serenaders assisted by Mr. D. Prescott, humorist, will be the attraction in the Bradlee Course next Wednesday.

Instead of a tree, the United Methodist Sunday school will have a Christmas boat on Christmas Eve, and other entertainments for the children.

The painting exhibition at Parker's drugstore is from Mrs. Hill's studio, where other pieces of her work can be seen, some particularly suitable for the holidays.

Phillips Academy holidays begin Thursday noon of next week and continue till Jan. 4. Abbot sends away its girls on Tuesday, and calls them back on Jan. 3.

Miss E. Lillian Cole is substituting at the Grammar school for Miss M. Alice Jacquith, who is seriously ill at her home in the Scotland District.

At the Farmers' Institute at Beverly yesterday, C.C. Blunt helped discuss "The Reclaiming of Pasture Lands."

75 Years Ago — December 1913

A Christmas thought from the editor of the Andover TOWNSMAN—Let my gift to my neighbor be an acknowledgement of his neighborliness to me and mine, and a renewal of my pledge of neighborliness to him and his.

Mrs. Alfred E. Stearns is spending the Christmas holidays with her son, Charles, who is attending school in England.

Scott H. Paradise of Medford, a former Phillips Academy student and a relative of two Andover families, has recently passed the entrance examinations for Oxford University.

There have been many visitors at the John Esther Gallery of Abbot Academy to see the photographs of Madonnas and other paintings illustrating the Christmas story.

Games and picture books for Christmas gifts for the children can be bought at the Bookstore for a quarter of their real value.

Beginning with December 18, a change affecting the trolley service between Andover Hill and Reading went into effect. As a result three times have been discontinued and the cars will only run once an hour.

50 Years Ago — December 1938

Some say it tastes fishy; some say it tastes oily; few say it tastes like water. Several have complained about the taste in Andover's water. The state officials reported that there was nothing to worry about, that the combination of unusually high water and a few cold spells had disturbed the water at the bottom of the pond.

Harold W. Leitch of Johnson Road was nominated to be one of the trustees of the Lowell Textile Institute.

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

Continuing the Christmas memories effort this week brings us to what was an Andover tradition for many years, the annual visit to St. Francis Seminary in West Andover to view the Christmas lights and the various displays inside the seminary building.

Had the practice of decorating the large edifice not ceased several years ago, there would probably be great-great-grandchildren joining the thousands of visitors who annually made the trek to the seminary grounds at least once from mid-December through Jan. 6.

It was in the years that the seminary was filled with Franciscan friars and those studying to become priests and brothers in the order that the annual Christmas practice flourished.

The friars as well as the seminarians began preparing for the following holiday period as soon as the display was turned off and taken down.

It was a labor of love for those at the West Andover site as they began the lengthy task of dipping the thousands of bulbs and preparing the displays and other Christmas decorations interspersed with their religious studies.

Father Ernest D'Onofrio, one of the first to be ordained from the seminary over 50 years ago, was among the many who worked on the display both as a student and as a friar. He told me once that his profession into the order was truly the work of God.

Seems his first day at the seminary left him with an acute case of homesickness. But the thought of the bus ride back home to Brooklyn, in those days a long and arduous journey, made him decide to stay.

But the real story of the seminary display, as I think back, was that the tradition could sort of trace the growth of the family.

First, as a child, there was at least one visit that the parents would take the youngsters to see the lights, park the car and visit the seminary, where various displays were on exhibit and one large scene of Bethlehem with twinkling lights for stars covering the scene.

Then it was home for hot chocolate and cookies.

If you were lucky, another visit might come during the Christmas season through the courtesy of aunts and uncles.

As time passed, the annual visit would be with just brothers or friends.

Then, when it was firmly determined that girls weren't boys, the visit would make a good date night visit, followed by a bite to eat and whatever else might prove discreetly interesting.

As time passed further, there would be the natural process of starting another family and beginning the cycle all over.

Let's just say it was not just a Christmas display which represented a great deal of work by the Franciscans, but an opportunity to allow families to join together in the spirit of the season.

But, like everything in life, times change and the annual expense, even though underwritten by donations from visitors, and the steady decline in vocations forced first, the abandonment of the Christmas display and, ultimately, the closing of the seminary.

And even though it has passed, the thoughts of those days can still stir happy family memories.

Churches Plan Holiday Pageants

Two Andover churches are holding Christmas pageants this weekend. Unitarian Universalist Church, 6 Locke St., will hold its annual holiday pageant Sunday.

The entire service will be conducted by the parish children, from the prelude through the closing words. Four youths will have solos and the church's new youth choir will make its debut. Readings and plays will also be included.

The plays, as well as many of the readings and songs, were selected around the theme "the giving of gifts" and the pageant is titled "the gifts of giving."

All are welcome to watch West Parish Church's 12th annual Christmas pageant Sunday at 5 p.m.

Members of the West Parish congregation and Sunday School students will participate.

The pageant, a narrated mime of the birth of Jesus Christ, includes live animals and opportunities for the audience to join the church choir and members of the Andover High School band in singing traditional carols. A special guest soloist will also perform.

The re-enactment will take place on the church green across the street from the church. Plenty of parking is available. Everyone is invited for refreshments in Fellowship Hall following the pageant.

West Parish Church is located at the intersection of Route 133 (Lowell Street), Chandler Road, Reservation Road and Shawsheen Road. For further details, call the church office between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Church Collects Gifts For AIDS Patients

Bill Watson, pastor of BrookRidge Community Church, which meets weekly at West Elementary School, is asking people to bring Christmas gifts for AIDS patients at Boston City Hospital. The gifts will be collected at BrookRidge on Sunday.

"The AIDS patients at BCH are not middle class—they go to the private hospitals," Watson said. "The ones at BCH are at the basement of life, without family, rejected by friends, shunned by private hospitals, dying with a disease for which there is no cure and no hope with no support system."

Watson suggested bringing gifts such as craft beads, T-shirts, socks, talcum powder, mittens, scarfs, perfume soaps and stocking caps. The gifts will be wrapped Sunday.

You don't have to attend BrookRidge to donate. Gifts can be dropped off in a box at the entrance to West Elementary, Beacon Street, Sunday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The BrookRidge service starts at 10:30 a.m. and will be followed by a Christmas party.

Your whole family will love

First Night Buttons Available

Participate in one of Boston's cultural traditions. Buy a button for First Night, the city's annual non-profit New Year's Eve celebration of the arts.

More than 60 percent of the revenue for First Night is generated through the sale of buttons. Buying a button admits the wearer to indoor events on a first-come, first-served basis.

Another way to enjoy and support First Night is as a volunteer. There are more than 450 volunteer opportunities for all ages, from house managers and ushers to trolley captains and face painters. Volunteering provides the opportunity to participate first-hand with First Night organizers. Contact Frieda Cohen at First Night Inc., Statler Office Building, 20 Park Plaza, Boston.

First Night takes place in more than 50 indoor and outdoor locations throughout the city and lasts throughout the afternoon and evening on New Year's Eve, Dec. 31.

Beginning with the Children's Festival at 1 p.m. and ending with a grand finale of fireworks at midnight, First Night offers everything in between, including ice sculptures, opera, music and dance. This year's celebration will feature a special ticketed performance of the Chinese Acrobats of Taiwan and Air Jazz jugglers at John Hancock Hall. Tickets can be purchased at Bostix at Faneuil Hall, visitor information booths at Boston Common and the Prudential Center and all Ticketron outlets.

First Night buttons are available at all Star Markets, Purity Supreme, Heartland and Angelo's supermarkets in Massachusetts, Tower Records at the corner of Newbury Street and Massachusetts Avenue, all Au Bon Pain French bakery cafes in Boston, Burlington, Cambridge and Watertown; Bostix at Faneuil Hall, participating merchants and the information center; Out-of-Town News and Ticket Agency at Harvard Square; visitor information booths at Boston Common and Prudential Center; and the Ticketron outlet at the Berklee Performance Center.

Introducing Courtyard by Marriott in Boston/Andover

A Special Little Hotel at a Very Comfortable Price.<sup>SM</sup>

Now you can enjoy "a special little hotel" of no more than 150 rooms, set in a friendly residential environment—at rates far more attractive than those of big, bustling hotels. Courtyard's smaller, more intimate scale allows you to enjoy extra comforts and friendly service no typical motor inn can match—specifically tailored to the needs of individual travelers like you, and moderately priced for extraordinary value.

Quality—with a difference

For instance, you'll be pleasantly surprised by the amount of space we give you in your beautifully appointed room or suite. You'll be able to stretch out on a king-size bed...spread your work out on an oversized work desk...and relax in a distinctly separate seating area.

And when you leave your room, you'll enjoy other thoughtful touches...such as a comfortable lobby and lounge that's more like an oversized living room. A congenial full-service restaurant. A swimming pool, whirlpool and exercise room for guest relaxation. A security system that lets you rest assured. Plus a beautifully landscaped courtyard, perfect for a refreshing outdoor stroll day or night.

Cultural Exchange Benefits Art Lovers

Local art lovers will benefit from a cultural exchange between the United States and Germany.

The work of a German artist will be in Lowell as part of an exchange of American and German art of the late '80s between the Museum of Fine Arts and Institute of Contemporary Art, both in Boston, and the Stadtische Kunsthalle and the Kunstsammlung Nordrhein-Westfalen of Dusseldorf.

The metal sculpture of Bruno K. will be at A Brush with History Gallery in Lowell until Jan. 29.

Last summer, art organizations in Lowell were contacted by the MFA/ICA exchange organizers and asked to consider satellite activities. What evolved from a series of meetings was the idea to bring one of the German artists to Lowell to produce a site-specific temporary installation, organizers said. Bruno K., whose work often has an industrial/fabricated character, visited Lowell in the summer, and the project "Bruno K. in Lowell" began.

The artist was born in 1957 in Hofheim and lives in Krieffel, West Germany. He has exhibited extensively in Europe. The exchange will bring him to the United States for the first time. His works can be seen not only at Brush with History, but also in Boston at the ICA.

"Basically, I've been working on the same theme for years, even though the working methods and materials have changed," he said in a catalog interview. "This theme is concerned with power, domination, heroism and the products of our ancestors, such as trophies, medals and victorious poses."

Mozart was born on January 27, 1756. He learned to play the harpsichord at the age of four and had composed many sonatas for the harpsichord, piano or violin as well as orchestral works before he reached the age of 14.

Cultural

The theme, though, isn't one Bruno K. consciously decided upon. "I've never sought out this theme, let alone thought it out. It's far too much an integral part of me. In my parents' home, for example, war was always an important subject."

A subject that Bruno K. says still has relevance today. "It isn't as if these things no longer happen, after all, in spite of all our experience. And certain patterns of thought and behavior from our grandfathers' generation have contributed to the present-day situation. You can't get rid of something by just not talking about it."

Bruno K. began his installation at Brush Monday. The public is invited to visit the gallery this week to see the work in progress. Raw materials have been shipped from Germany, but the artist will be putting them together at the Lowell gallery itself, say Brush staffers. They added this is the first time works of sculpture have been on exhibit at the gallery.

A Brush with History Gallery is located in the Market Mills area (Market Street) and is open Tuesday through Sunday from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

An opening reception for Bruno K. and the newly completed work will take place at Brush on Saturday, Dec. 17, from 5 to 8 p.m.

Bruno K. in Lowell is made possible by grants from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities.

CO Poisoning

People are exposed to thousands of potentially poisonous substances that cause injury, illness and deaths, if used incorrectly. Carbon monoxide is one of the most dangerous, according to the Massachusetts Poison Control System. In fact, exposure to CO is the leading cause of poison-related deaths in the United States.

Carbon monoxide is a colorless, odorless, tasteless and nonirritating gas produced by the incomplete burning of carbon-containing materials. CO can be produced by unvented gas space heaters, automotive exhaust fumes, kerosene, charcoal and coal and wood stoves.

When the body is exposed to too much carbon monoxide, tissues fail to get enough oxygen. Low exposure may result in a mild or throbbing headache. Longer exposure results in headache, irritability, confusion, dizziness, vision problems, nausea, vomiting and fainting. Often these symptoms will resemble the flu. High concentrations of CO can saturate the blood so rapidly that sudden unconsciousness may occur.

Black Tie Benefit For Hospital

Bobby Short

Bobby Short, one of the nation's most celebrated cabaret performers, will be the featured entertainer at "I'll Take Manhattan," a black tie benefit sponsored by the Holy Family Hospital Foundation April 14 at the Andover Country Club. The evening will include cocktails, dinner and dancing to Dick Johnson's Swing Shift band. Proceeds will benefit the cardiac rehabilitation center.

Short comes to the country club in Andover from the Cafe Carlyle in Manhattan where he has been delighting audiences with his sophisticated style for the past 20 years. His songs from the era of Cole Porter, Rogers and Hart and the Gershwins explain his ageless, universal appeal.

This first annual event is being chaired by Dr. Robert E. and Mrs. Pauline E. Kellan of North Andover, assisted by committee members Thomas S. Barenboim, Ann Bride, J.B. Doherty, Hon. John E. Fenton, Jr., Theresa Fenton, Innocenzo Fossella, Sanford Kaufman, M.D., Bunny Maren, Frances Melia and Dorothy M. Winn, all of Andover; Abraham D. Bashara and Richard R. Conlin of Methuen; Elaine Burke, Joseph Giampa, Viola Giannarakos, Audrey Goldstein, Richard K. Mallen, Olivia Scileppi and Diane Scully, all of North Andover; and Henry P.J. Broekhoff and Eric Parthum, D.M.D., of Windham, N.H. The event is being coordinated by Clifford E. Elias, Esq., foundation chairman, and William L. Lane, president/chief executive officer.

CO Poisoning

If carbon monoxide poisoning is suspected, the person should be moved immediately to fresh air and transported to an emergency room where oxygen and other therapies can be given.

Seven tips for helping families prevent carbon monoxide poisoning:

- Choose a certified space heater from a reputable company and make sure it is properly connected and vented.

- Maintain vent clearance from building structures and household contents and avoid putting clothes on the heater to dry.

- Choose a heater with a pilot light or an electronic ignition. If you smell gas, check to see if the pilot light is still lit before turning the heater on. If you smell gas and the heater is on, turn the system off, air out the room and call the gas company.

- Read labels on heaters and follow all warnings and lighting instructions.

- Have your heating system cleaned and checked yearly.

- The underside of your auto should be checked periodically for rust spots and holes in the frame. Faulty exhaust systems need immediate replacement.

- Leave the garage door open while warming up the car. Have windows cracked so fresh air can enter when sitting in a running car for a long period of time.

Buckle Up

Each state now has a child passenger protection law requiring the use of restraining seats or belts on children under age 5. Still, many adults don't buckle up their children passengers, resulting in deaths and injuries to many of the 45,000 children involved in motor vehicle accidents each year, according to U.S. Healthcare.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration advises that restraint seats be placed in the back seat facing backwards for infants up to 20 pounds and forward for toddlers 20-40 pounds. Infant seats are used up to 20 pounds; convertible seats, from birth to 40 pounds; and toddler seats by youngsters under 40 pounds who can sit unsupported.

A booster seat with an upper-body harness should be used when the toddler reaches 40 pounds. When the child outgrows the booster, a seat belt should be worn over the hip and thigh

Arts Logo Contest Underway

All artists and graphic designers who live in the Andover area are invited to submit entries for the election of a logo design to symbolize the 1989 Marblehead Festival of Arts.

Each year a new logo identifying the festival's summer exhibits is selected through a competition. The winning entry adorns t-shirts, stationery, posters and display materials. The winner will receive a $125 prize. Judges are elected by the Festival of Arts.

To qualify for the logo contest, entrants must reside, work or belong to an art association in Essex County. Designs, which should symbolize the town of Marblehead, are limited to two colors in any medium and must include the following information: "Marblehead Festival of Arts, July 1-4, 1989." The artist may render this copy in final form directly on the design or may indicate the intended position of the copy on the design.

SPORTING LIFE

Lewis Swishes A Dramatic Win

By Rick Harrison

Kevin Lewis' dramatic 12-foot swish from the corner, with 10 seconds left in overtime, boosted St. Robert's A to a come-from-behind victory to highlight the opening night of action in the Andover Church Basketball League Senior Division (13-15 years).

Ballardvale United, St. Robert's A and St. Augustine B chalked up wins as the ACBL Seniors launched their 1988-89 season with a tripleheader recently at the West Middle School gym.

Ballardvale and St. Augustine B had relatively easy times with 12-point victories, while SRA needed overtime buckets by Kevin Lewis and Mike Marchlik to nudge South Church 29-27.

Three more games are scheduled this Sunday evening at West, St. Augustine B vs. Ballardvale (4 p.m.), St. Robert's B vs. South (5 p.m.) and St. Augustine A vs. St. Robert's A (6 p.m.).

The division will then take a three-week vacation break over the holidays, returning to action January 8.

Senior Division coaches this year are John Gardner (SRA), John Baker (St. Robert's B), Ray Gibbons (Ballardvale), Mel Berger (South), Glenn Cadagan (St. Augustine's A) and Joe Torrisi (St. Augustine's B).

St. Augustine B, 38-26

In this bruising contest between two physical teams, the quicker SAB squad held off a St. Robert's B crew that had the four tallest players on the court.

SRB grabbed a 9-5 first-quarter edge as Adam Ferry, one of those four, dropped in six points.

St. Augustine B scored the only 10 points of the second period, grabbing a 15-9 halftime edge, and the winners pulled away with a 12-5 burst in the fourth stanza led by Adam Goddess and Paul Lisiak (four points apiece).

Lisiak paced the balanced St. Augustine's attack with 10 points, Jamie Lion-ette added 7 points including 5-of-12 from the free throw line, and Goddess collected his 6 points in the second half.

Peter Cookson dropped through 5 points, Matt McClune 4, Larry Gibson netted 4 foul shots, and Josh Nelken converted a pair of charities.

Sean Gauthier and Manu Sharma also played well for SAB.

Adam Ferry shared game-high scoring honors with 10 points for St. Robert's B.

Ryan Beal pocketed 5, Garrett Ferris 4, Chris Shea 4, Ian Timmons 2 and Paul Durant a first period free throw.

The victors held a slim 13-12 advantage in fieldgoals, but swished 12-of-24 foul shots to just 2-of-10 for SRB.

Ballardvale, 34-22

Ballardvale and St. Augustine A were locked in a tense struggle for three quarters, the score tied 6-6 after one period, 12-12 at halftime and BU holding a slim 21-18 edge after three stanzas.

But SAA ran out of steam in the final session, Ballardvale pulling away with a 13-4 run led by Andy Leinson and Colin Arsenault who combined for nine points.

Arsenault led all marksmen on both sides with 13 points for BU, scoring in every period and collecting nine of his points in the second half.

Leinson contributed 7 points, Mike Famiglietti 6 in the last two quarters, and single baskets were added by Mike D'Agostino, Dan Mooney and Andy Novelline.

Keith Bilger and Brad Litchfield flipped through solo foul shots to complete the Ballardvale offense.

Danny Atkins, Matt Landry, Matt Morello, Gary Znamierowski and Tim Sakowich were other BU standouts.

Rich Radulski and Rod Lumley sparked St. Augustine A with 9 points each, Brian Croteau had a fieldgoal and Dave Bromberg a two-pointer.

Matt Walcott, Dave Halloran and Josh Pakstis also played well defensively for SAA.

St. Robert's A, 29-27 (ot)

Kevin Lewis broke a 27-27 tie in the waning seconds of the two-minute overtime, lifting SRA to victory after it trailed South 13-8 at halftime and 17-16 entering the fourth quarter.

Dave Gardner gave St. Robert's a 25-23 advantage with 1:15 left in regulation, but South's Mark Lastrina forced overtime with a bucket 30 seconds from the finish.

Lastrina put South in front for the last time early in OT, but SRA battled back on Mike Marchlik's game-tying two-pointer and Lewis' clutch game-winner.

Both of the evenly-matched teams had ample opportunity to win both in regulation and overtime.

St. Robert's A missed several key free throws, while South turned the ball over in the backcourt at several key junctures.

Lewis paced the winners' attack with 11 points, Dave Gardner notched 7, Mike Marchlik 6, Chris Klein 3, Steve Marchlik a free throw and Matt Reghitto a foul shot.

Brian Workman, Mike O'Sullivan and Paul Trull added strong games for SRA.

Mark Lastrina was a force throughout for South, hitting several 12-footers and finishing with a game-high 15 points. He delivered all eight South points in the fourth period.

Kevin Murphy pumped through 6 points while Adam Cohen, Peter Arthur and Todd Gray scored 2 points each.

Rob Brendle, Matt Doyle, Mark Cutler and Ryan Morgan also played well for South Church.

Residents Merrimack Hoop Starters

Two Andover residents are starting the season on Merrimack College's women's basketball team.

Barbara Kenny and Tricia Lentz are playing hoop for Merrimack this year.

Kenny, a sophomore, spent her rookie season as a backup forward after making the club as a walk-on. She played in eight games, scoring 2 points and collaring nine rebounds. She will be a backup again this season.

A graduate of Andover High School, Kenny won a starting job in the high school's front court during her junior year and was a regular her senior year. Kenny was a senior captain for a 10-10 squad and won a team award for leadership both on and off the court. She also competed three years in track (hurdles) and her senior year in cross country. Kenny played basketball in the Northern Essex Community College League during the summer months.

She "has worked really hard since the end of last season," said her coach, Debbie Cogan. She "may be the most improved player we have, a role player who can play either the off-guard or small forward spots."

Center Lentz assumes the distinction of being the team's tallest player at 6 feet, 1 inch. A graduate of St. Mary's High School, Lentz led her high school team in both scoring (15 ppg) and rebounding (10 rpg) as a senior captain this past winter. A three-year starter in the pivot, she was instrumental in leading St. Mary's to a 14-6 record and the state tournament last season. Lentz scored 1,087 career points, following in the footsteps of Merrimack assistant coach, Beth Padian, a fellow St. Mary's alumna.

Mollineaux

Forward At Pingree

Steve Mollineaux of Andover has been named to Pingree School's varsity basketball team for the 1988-89 season.

A forward, he is one of only three sophomores to play on the varsity team.

Last year's team placed second in the Eastern League with a 16-6 record. This year, the team has a 20-game schedule ahead of them.

Pingree School, located in South Hamilton, is an independent, coeducational day school with 230 students in grades nine through 12.

Lentz was named a Lawrence Eagle-Tribune all-star and was honored three times as a Catholic Conference all-star. She also lettered in track and volleyball at St. Mary's.

Cogan called Lentz "one of our best recruits in recent years." She "will see lots of playing time, possibly as a starter, this year," Cogan said.

Battery Safety

Before you attempt to revive the car battery with a jump-start, the National Society to Prevent Blindness-Massachusetts Affiliate warns you to proceed with caution.

The society recommends the following procedures for safely jump-starting a car:

- Review the car owner's manual for instructions.
- Do not jump-start a battery if the battery fluid is frozen.
- Wear chemical splash goggles. (Keep a pair with your jumper cables.)
- Keep sparks, flames and cigarettes away from batteries.
- Be sure the vehicles are not touching.
- Be sure the electrical systems of both vehicles are the same voltage.
- Make sure the vehicles are in neutral or park, that the ignitions of both are off and that the emergency brakes are set.
- If the battery has vent caps, make sure they are tight and level. If available, place an amp cloth over the vent caps of the dead battery.

Doctors Recognized For Service

St. Joseph's Hospital recognized three local doctors for 25 years of distinguished active service at a cocktail party on Dec. 6. The party also marked for the physicians the opening celebrations of the 150th anniversary of the Lowell hospital.

Drs. Paul M. Burke, Sr., a surgeon, and Robert E. Moynihan, a dentist, both of Andover, were awarded special recognition. Dr. Jack E. Farnham of North Andover, who specializes in allergy/immunology, was also recognized.

Featured at the reception was a historic display of medical artifacts, instruments and books from the collections of several local physicians.

Deb Hamilton

Returns To Oberlin Swim Team

Oberlin College student/athlete Deb Hamilton of Andover is a member of the 1988-89 women's swimming and diving team for the Yeowomen. Oberlin is looking to improve upon last year's seventh-place finish in the North Coast Athletic Conference swimming and diving championships and an overall dual meet record of 5-5.

Hamilton is one of three divers competing for interim head coach Debbie Thompson's squad. She last competed for Oberlin during the 1986-87 swimming and diving season, opting for off-campus study last year. Hamilton turned in team-bests on the one-meter (146.95 points) and three-meter (137.50) boards during her sophomore campaign.

Hamilton is a 1985 graduate of Phillips Academy

The Pee Wee A hockey team's unbeaten streak came to an end last weekend when they played a strong Woburn team at the twin Hockey Town rinks in Saugus. It was their first loss in 19 games. Andover hung tough for the first period, despite a wide discrepancy in play. However, Woburn's relentless attack in the second period scored three goals. Finally, near the two-minute mark, Dan Trede scored on a great individual effort as he skated over the blue line, fought off several defenders and fired a hard wrist shot into the far left corner of the net to narrow the score to 3-1.

Woburn scored in the four-minute mark of the third period and then again in the last minutes of play to make the final score 5-1. Fred Sunderland and Phil Smith played outstanding in goal, continuously withstanding heavy pressure and foiling numerous good scoring chances by Woburn.

On Sunday Andover eventually wore down Amesbury for a 8-1 victory. Brian Flanagan started it as he scored with Dave Wartman getting the assist. Then Timmy McGovern scored after passes from Ryan Moynihan and Scott Munroe to give Andover a 2-0 lead after one period of play. Amesbury narrowed the lead to 2-1 in the early minutes of the second period. Brendan Sheehy scored an unassisted goal to increase Andover's lead 3-1. Ryan Moynihan's backhander found its way past a surprised goalie a few minutes later. Munroe and Dave Bailey picked up assists.

Andover broke the game wide open in the third period by scoring four unanswered goals. Flanagan started it with Wartman assisting. Then McGovern scored when Moynihan outthrust two defenders behind the net and made a nice pass to him and he fired it into the net. Moynihan got a goal with Munroe and Bailey assisting. Finally, Sheehy scored after receiving passes from Richie Enos and Danny Hansberry. Sunderland and Smith again shared goaltending duties.

Students Present Gifts

Students from the Britannica Learning Center in Andover gathered Monday evening at Academy Manor Nursing Home on Morton Street to share the holiday spirit by caroling to the residents and bringing them gifts.

The gifts were purchased by the special read-a-thon conducted at the learning center. Students earned tokens for their outside pleasure reading, and Britannica Learning Center matched the tokens with money for the purchase of gifts.

Kathy Melconian, director of the Andover Britannica Learning Center, said an integral part of the center's reading program is to encourage children to read for pleasure as well as to acquire knowledge. "And this endeavor had even greater meaning to the students," Melconian said, "when they had the pleasure of giving to others for their efforts."

Britannica Learning Centers are located across the country and offer individualized, after-school programs in pre-school reading; basic and advanced reading; basic math; specialized teen programs in Evelyn Wood Study Dynamics; SAT preparation; college prep; and Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics for adults.

Holiday Tips

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children reminds you this is a high stress time for families. Some tips for easing holiday stress:

- Secure adequate child care.
- Make time for young children to share their day.

- Minimize the commercialism of gift-giving. Competition for toys heightens a child's anxiety.
- Don't leave children alone in cars, even briefly.
- Maintain household routines as children need schedules.
- Teach children not to open doors to strangers.

salon last Friday and donated $100 to the relief fund, said Tateosian. "I didn't even know how to thank her," she said.

Clients have also donated money, and Tateosian says she's giving the proceeds from student haircuts, $10 each, to the relief fund.

Another local resident, Rita Sarkisian, owner of Sarkisian Farms, Chandler Road, is collecting donations. "I can't believe the generosity of the non-Armenians...they do want to help, and it feels good that others care," she said.

And donations have been worthwhile. "People are dropping $20 as if it's nothing," Sarkisian said. The people in Soviet Armenia, she said, "are learning that people care."

The Armenian Relief Society of Lowell, located on Liberty Street, staged a fund drive last Saturday. Over $12,000 was raised, said Chairman Angele Dulgarian.

At the last minute, the center was informed there was a plane at Boston's Logan Airport that had to be filled with relief supplies within 24 hours.

"We had a tremendous response," Dulgarian said. Area hospitals donated medical supplies, and department stores donated blankets and warm clothing, she said.

"I can't believe the generosity of the non-Armenians...they do want to help, and it feels good that others care."

Rita Sarkisian

The Armenian Relief Society is still collecting donations, blankets, warm clothing and medical supplies. "I'm overwhelmed. I just can't believe the response," Dulgarian said as she spoke about a woman who had just dropped off 100 pairs of new wool stockings at the center.

Armenian churches are also accepting donations. And they are in a period of mourning until Dec. 18, when special services for the victims of the earthquake will be held.

The Rev. Sahag Vertanesian, pastor of St. Gregory Armenian Church in North Andover, said all church activities, like a Christmas party for school children and the New Year's celebration, have been postponed because the church is in mourning.

The church, like most Armenians, is having a difficult time getting information from Soviet Armenia because communication lines have been damaged.

Boloian, of Chandler Road, has distant cousins who live near the earthquake site. "We have no idea if they survived," she said. "We don't know what's going on."

Attempts are being made to contact survivors in Soviet Armenia. Family members can leave messages at The Mirror Spectator or the Armenian General Benevolent Union in Watertown. These messages will be relayed to Soviet Armenia via Voice of America, a European radio station. And, it is hoped, relatives there will respond to the messages, said Rose Azarian, chairman of the Merrimack Valley AGBU.

Western Roundup

By Joanna Moynihan

West had its annual Thanksgiving assembly on Nov. 23. The orchestra played "Minuet" and "Symphonette," the West Middle School band played "Get it on" and "The Great Gate of Kiev" and the seventh and eighth grade girls glee club sang "Don't Worry, Be Happy' and "Amazing Grace." Turkeys were raffled off to each grade level and to teachers. Dismissal was at 11.

Second graders from the Frost School in Lawrence were welcomed to the school by the eighth grade green team on Nov. 29. Students in English class had been writing fairy tales and read or acted them out to the children. The second graders had the chance to make instruments with the help of the older kids in science. The children had a McDonald's lunch before returning to their school. Mrs. Beauchesne, science department chairperson, arranged the event.

The seventh grade class returned from their five-day trip to Nature's Classroom in Connecticut. After a week of learning and experiencing the outdoors, they seemed exhausted, but disappointed that the week had ended.

Programs Receive Reaccreditation

Two Northern Essex Community College health programs have received reaccreditation by the Committee on Allied Health Education and Accreditation.

After an extensive review process, the respiratory therapy and radiologic technology programs have been reaccredited for a period of five years.

Northern Essex offers a certificate and associate degree program in respiratory therapy. Respiratory therapists are employed under medical direction in the treatment, management, diagnostic evaluation and care of patients with abnormalities of the cardiopulmonary system, such as emphysema, asthma, pneumonia, heart failure, drug overdose, head and chest injuries, muscular paralysis and post-operative complications.

Radiologic technology, an associate degree program, trains students to produce x-ray images for diagnostic interpretation.

For more information, call Christopher Rowse, coordinator of respiratory therapy programs, or Carol Wallace, coordinator of the radiologic technology program.

Couple Honored

The Massachusetts Executive Office of Elder Affairs recently honored "Keep Moving" leaders James and Dorothy Sharry of Andover at an appreciation luncheon at the Royal Park Plaza in Marlborough.

"As walking club leaders, you inspire and motivate elders to be active and fit and to take control of their health," said Secretary of Elder Affairs Paul J. Lanzikos. "By bringing people together to share exercise and companionship, you are positive role models for your peers, your families and your communities."

The "Keep Moving" program is a state-wide network of walking clubs that promotes fitness and socialization for people 50 years and older. More than 400 trained and certified volunteers work with local councils on aging, senior centers, park and recreation departments, community centers, "Y" hospitals and shopping malls to organize and lead 260 walking clubs throughout the Commonwealth.

For more information, contact Lillian Colavecchio or Jodie Portman at the Executive Office of Elder Affairs in Boston.

"Keep Moving" is sponsored by Nabisco Brands, Inc. and Bay State Health Care.

Down The Years

A group has met six times in November and December with the Government in Operation chairman of the League of Women Voters, to study taxation in Massachusetts.

A hearing on James Heifetz's appeal from the board of selectmen's decision which removed his beer license was held before the Alcoholic Beverages Commission in Boston Tuesday afternoon.

If it's a white Christmas in Andover, it may be very, very white. Apparently no money can be spent for removing the snow until the selectmen declare an emergency and it is a question as to just how severe a snowfall has to be before it can be called an emergency.

Principal Hamblin announced the postponement until early January of the Goldsmith speaking contest because two speakers are confined to their home with illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Kennedy have moved from Harding street to Essex street.

25 Years Ago — December 1963

The Junior High School library has expanded its collection and services this fall.

Young people at Central School presented their annual Christmas program Sunday for parents and friends.

All letters addressed to Santa Claus and mailed to the local Post Office are being answered this year.

The town has completed having some 300 feet of 18-inch drainage pipe along a town-owned easement into the Pike School property, off Hidden Road. The drainage work cost about $1,000.

No obvious record of a town-owned easement, from Hidden Road into the Pike School property, could be located in the town hall this week.

The Selectmen have not voted on, or taken any specific action to obtain the town manager's resignation. No such plans are contemplated, according to Chairman James D. Wilson.

The Post Office will be opened for extended hours during the holidays. The extra hours will apply to Shawsheen substation as well.

Suzanne Rowen was soloist at the South School Christmas program last week. Christmas customs of many lands were depicted during the evening.

10 Years Ago — December 1978

The Andover Individualized Reading System (AIRS) receives high praise in the January issue of Teacher Magazine.

The Doherty School faculty is planning a reception in honor of William Doherty on Dec. 20.

The town's new computer machinery is expected to be headed toward town hall within the week. Renovation of rooms to accommodate the equipment is nearing completion and it is anticipated that the installation will be made early next week.

What has been the Recreation/Community schools department, will henceforth be known as the Department of Community Services. The change results from the town manager's reorganization of the department to include other services and improve the reporting process, or chain of command.

The Andover Choral Society is presenting Handel's Messiah for the 49th year, under the direction of J. Everett Collins.

Monday was "Family Night" at downtown Andover stores and shoppers were greeted with refreshments and a festive air.

Energy Tips

Massachusetts Electric offers the following tips to help customers stay warm while saving electricity.

- Open drapes and shades during the day to increase the heating effects of sunlight.

- When not using the fire place, close the damper to prevent warm air in the room from escaping up the chimney.

More than 60 places in the United States have been named in honor of Christopher Columbus.

Developments

- Building area of the first lot was so far below Tewksbury Street, the house roof would be at street level, said Colyer.

- Land cover would be removed for grading.

- Narrow pavement width of Tewksbury Street at the development site would create a problem.

- Drainage from Tewksbury Street and a new subdivision street might create a water flow problem onto the first two lots.

Goya Exhibit to Open

The Museum of Fine Arts, Boston will present Goya and the Spirit of Enlightenment, a major international exhibition exploring the profound effect of the Spanish Enlightenment on Francisco Goya. Opening Jan. 18, the exhibition will include more than 130 paintings, drawings and prints. Portraits of some of Spain's Enlightened men and women will be featured with works which convey most clearly Goya's debt to the Enlightenment. The exhibition will remain on view through March 26.

According to Eleanor Sayre, one of the organizers and curator emeritus of prints, drawings and photographs at the museum, "It is fairly recent that scholars have begun to see the importance of the Enlightenment in Goya's work. The Enlightenment raised many questions that concern us to this day and in his art Goya investigates questions about what should be the relationship of religion to politics, faith to reason, art to morality and about the wellsprings of human behavior."

The Spanish Enlightenment was one of the most fruitful and original in Europe and Goya one of its outstanding and most creative figures. His genius becomes intelligible as never before in light of recent research on the Enlightenment. Sayre continues, "Through Goya's work, the public will come to understand why, with all its contradictions, the Enlightenment is said to inaugurate the modern age in which we live, an age in which this preoccupation remains very much alive."

The works in Goya and the Spirit of Enlightenment, drawn from public and private collections in Europe, the United States and South America, will range from Goya's early self-portrait of about 1773 to the late enigmatic drawings done in Bordeaux in 1824-1828, a career coinciding with the reigns of Charles III (1759-1788) and Charles IV (1788-1808), the Napoleonic invasion and the reign of Ferdinand VI (1808-1833). Goya sprang from a cated at Haggetts Pond Road at Pleasant Street, was not as strongly opposed.

The main obstacle was the issue of drainage.

Colyer and the board felt that an insufficient amount of data pertaining to where water would flow off-site from the street drainage systems was presented with the preliminary plan.

However, McCloud indicated that his firm had recently presented a solution that been accepted by other town officials.

However, the board decided to deny the preliminary plan until the new drainage plan could be detailed.

Planning Board Chairman Russ Moran said the board will take time to review comments made during the community meetings and schedule another public forum sometime before the Town Meeting in April to discuss the board's conclusions.

A contract of this sort would "make it easier to plan systematically," Robb said. And, once approved, it would be in place for the next three years, "pending the success of goals," he added.

She also gave a lecture on O'Keefe to the Merrimack Valley chapter of the AAUW. In addition, Hoffman's paper "Glasses & Newspaper" was accepted for presentation at the New England Land Grant Colleges' Art History Conference.

Be Alert

"Good or bad weather often depends on one's outlook," noted David J. Christensen, Executive Vice President and Treasurer of the Automobile Club of Merrimack Valley. "For instance, heavy snow may mean a school day off for youngsters but a driving nightmare for motorists."

The AAA official stressed that all road users should be aware of the potential hazards resulting from inclement weather conditions. "Some areas of the United States are known for their balmy winters," he said. "However, for most of us the months of December, January and February are often associated with icy, snowy or rainy days. Any of these conditions may adversely affect the visibility and maneuverability of drivers and pedestrians."

Christensen offered a few tips on bad weather safety. "Drivers need to realize that vehicle stopping distances can be up to 10 times farther on ice than on dry pavement," the AAA spokesperson explained. "Driving speeds should be adjusted accordingly." Christensen also had some advice for walkers. "Pedestrians during this holiday season are likely to be bundled up in coats, scarves, hoods and hats. Their arms may be filled with packages and their hands may be carrying an umbrella."

Goya

continuous tradition of enlightened Spanish thought and gave visual form to themes which appeared in the social, political and literary writings of his contemporaries, adding further penetrating observations of his own. The exhibition will emphasize the intellectual content of his work, highlighting the thematic and iconographic consistency of his work throughout his career and in all media.

Important themes of Goya and the Spirit of Enlightenment range from the importance of reason and the folly of vice to constitutional questions. Viewers will see how the artist communicated psychological realities, for instance, the harm done by the hypocrisy of those who pretend to be what they are not, the abuses that arise from superstition, how bigotry dehumanizes and how war and famine have the capacity to undermine morality and compassion.

Goya and the Spirit of Enlightenment is organized by the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, Museo del Prado, Madrid, and the Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York. The exhibition will be accompanied by an illustrated catalogue which will include essays by Goya scholars covering the historical, literary and artistic background of Goya's works of art.

Goya and the Spirit of Enlightenment is made possible by grants from Manufacturers Hanover and the New York Stock Exchange Foundation, Inc. The exhibition is also supported by grants from the National Endowment for the Humanities, a federal agency, Banco Central and Comité Conjunto Hispano-Norteamericano para la Cooperación Cultural y Educativa. An indemnity has been granted by the Federal Council on the Arts and the Humanities. Transportation assistance has been provided by Iberia Airlines of Spain.

Schruender Real Estate

GREAT CURB APPEAL

First Impressions are important, and this is especially true when you place your home on the market. When Realtors show your property buyers are influenced strongly by what they see when they drive up in front of your house.

Before the "For Sale" sign goes up, ask your agent what steps you should take to maximize your home's curb appeal. Be sure your yard is neatly mowed and trimmed if it is summer. An investment in flowers, shrubs or mulch might be in order at that time of the year also. Any bikes or toys should be out of the yard, and peeling paint should be spruced up. When prospective buyers pull up to a house with a shaggy exterior they tend to assume that the interior will need more work than they want to handle. They may even refuse to look at it. As you can see, a little time and money spent refining your house's appearance is important for bringing you top dollar in the long run.

If you are considering a mover, contact the professionals at Realty USA Schruender Real Estate. Call us at 685-5000 or stop by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover.

HOMELESSNESS. It's not child's play.

For most of us, the place we call home is something to be treasured.

Yet for the many homeless people throughout New England, "home" is nothing more than a distant dream. At Commonwealth, our dream is that everyone have a place to call home. As a small step toward that goal, we will contribute $50 to the Massachusetts Coalition for the Homeless through WCVB-TV's "Project Shelter" for every approved mortgage application received during December and January.

If you're looking for a home loan, give us a call. Together, we can reach for our dreams.
